Hope Is Faint In Strikes

Talks Continue With Leading Steel Producers Of The Country

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 29—(AP)—Another sliver of hope slanted feebly across the nation's darkened steel-coal strike picture today.

The government — working feverishly to crack the industry-stifling steel deadlock—dropped squarely in the lap of the CIO United Steelworkers a move by small producer to recall the Presidential Fact Finding Board for clarification of its peace formula.

Otherwise, the situation remained as dour as ever.

The steel and coal strike twins have outgrown their swaddling clothes. A robust four and six weeks old respectively, they have left the nation's economy battered.

While President Truman says the strikes do not yet add up to a national emergency, more than a million workers are idled and losses are in the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Requests For Aid

In the steel and coal capital of Pittsburgh, requests for jobless aid are flooding state employment offices at the rate of 10,000 a day, most of them as an indirect result of the strikes. That's the pattern elsewhere.

Federal mediators are continuing talks with top steel producers. The coal strike is just jogging along with negotiations off until Tuesday.

Steelworker President Philip Murray has 500,000 unionists out of the mills in his fight for free pensions and insurance. United Mine Workers Chief John L. Lewis doesn't call strikes but 380,000 of his men are staying home in support of his fight for a new contract with more pay, more pensions.

Recall of the steel fact finders was suggested by President William H. Colvin Jr., of Crucible Steel company in Pittsburgh. He directed the request to U. S. Mediation Director Cyrus H. Ching, who passed it along to Murray.

Up To Policy Body

In Cleveland for the convention of the CIO which he also heads, Murray was not available for comment. But Steelworker Secretary-Treasurer David J. McDonald said a decision on recall of the board would be up to the union's policy committee.

The fact finders recommended a 10-cent hourly package of company insurance and pensions. The steelworkers accepted but industry balked at paying the freight without worker contributions.

Colvin said he thought the industry-wide dispute could be settled by "individual collective bargaining, company by company, as the board recommended."

He asked for the board to clarify its recommendations as they apply to small steel producers.

The chairman of the board, Dr. Carroll R. Daugherty, said the board could only be recalled if both the union and the industry request it.

Ching, meanwhile, moved his operations from New York to Washington where he plans to talk with officials of Republic Steel, Jones and Laughlin and Youngstown Sheet and Tube companies Tuesday.

Republican Senator Morse of Oregon laid the blame for failure to settle the dispute on the "blind stubborness" of the big steel producers, and called on them to grant the union's demands for the pension-insurance package.

Seven Named To C. Of C. Board

A judging committee started counting ballots at 9:00 o'clock Saturday morning in the election of the new board members of the Chamber of Commerce.

Names of the new members were released Saturday by R. M. Overstreet, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and are as follows: Claude Boul, Jack Cunningham, A. W. Haller, Virgil Herrick, William Hurlbut, Jr., D. S. Lamm and Abe Silverman. The seven men were chosen as board members by the vote of the entire membership of the Chamber of Commerce from 14 names presented on the ballot by the nominating committee.

Other members of the board are: W. C. Askew, Cline Cain, Frank Hayes, Maurice Hogan, C. W. Mathieson, Mrs. Ike Warren and O. W. Wiley.

There will be a called meeting of the board in the near future for the purpose of electing a president, first vice-president, second vice-president and treasurer.

Plunges 1500 Feet To Death

PORTLAND, Oct. 29 —(AP)— A 20-year-old college student plunged 1,500 feet to his death on the icy slopes of Mount Hood today.

Don Welk, Portland, lost his footing in a rocky, ice-sheathed chute 300 feet from the summit of the 11,245-foot peak just at dawn.

He tumbled head-over-heels down the precipitous V-shaped cut and then slid out on glacial ice. His 17-year-old sister watched him fall. It was several hours before it was certain that he was dead, although a climbing companion, Bob Buscho, reported at Timberline lodge in asking aid that he showed no signs of life.

A party from the lodge climbed up the mountain and found Welk's body at the base of Illumination rock, a vast cliff formation on the mountain's south side.

Vote Tuesday On Schools Redistricting

Judges and Clerks Chosen In The Places To Vote

Pettis county will be one of 25 Missouri counties which will vote on Tuesday, November 1st, on a reorganization plan for the county school system. Fifty-eight counties in Missouri had voted by October 1st and as a result of their elections 844 districts have been merged with other districts to form new enlarged school administrative units.

In Pettis county the qualified voters of the county outside Sedalia will vote on whether they wish to reduce seventy-nine existing districts into ten proposed districts. In addition to the voting by Pettis countians, the resident voters of one Cooper county district and one Morgan county district will vote on whether to become a part of one of the proposed Pettis county areas. Sedalia voters will not vote on the proposition, as the county board of education made no change in the present boundaries of the Sedalia school district when the plan for school reorganization was drawn up.

Four For High Schools

Of the proposed new districts, four would be high school districts and the remaining six would be elementary districts. The high school districts would be R-2, Houstonia and Hughesville; R-4, LaMonte; R-6, Smithton; and R-8, Green Ridge.

In any proposed district where a majority of voters favors the proposition for enlarging the school district. Within thirty days after the Nov. 1st election, there will be a special election held within the district to select a new board of six members for the school district. In the interim between the Nov. 1st election and the organization of the new school board, the country board of education will be responsible for transacting necessary business of the district.

If a majority of the voters in a proposed district vote against the proposal to reorganize, the separate districts of the proposed area will remain exactly as they are at present with no change of school boards or boundaries taking place for at least one year.

Each proposed area will have a separate election and the outcome of the voting in one area will have no effect upon the outcome of any other area.

Quarterback Club to Hear Ass't Coach

Chauncey Simpson, Assistant to Coach Don Faurot, Coming

Chauncey Simpson, assistant coach to Coach Don Faurot of the University of Missouri, comes to Sedalia Wednesday night, November 2, to speak to the Sedalia Quarterback club at a dinner meeting to be held at the Bothwell hotel. The meeting will be in the Ambassador room of the hotel after which motion pictures of the Iowa State game won by Missouri 32-0 and the Oklahoma A. & M. game won by the M. U. Tigers 21-7.

Coached Champions

Simpson went to the University of Missouri with Faurot in 1935 and skippered the Tigers through 1943- 1944, and 1945 campaigns while the headman Faurot was in the Navy. His 1945 team won the Big Six title and went to the Cotton Bowl.

Chauncey Simpson

"Chaunce" as he is better known to his football players works with backs. It's his headwork which is exhibited on the gridiron in these tough games, by the shifty Tigers and which has done much to win games for the university.

He will be the commentator during the showing of the pictures. In the showing of various plays he will stop the camera, show the play in slow motion and at the same time will explain the play as it is being made, regardless whether it's the Tigers or the opposition.

Needs No Introduction

Simpson needs no introduction to Sedalians. He has appeared before the Quarterback club in the past, spoke at various Civic club noon day meetings, talked to the Smith-Cotton high school football banquet and played golf here with the Columbia team against Sedalia. He is a man who football fans really enjoy hearing.

The meeting was changed to Wednesday night instead of Thursday night due to a previous engagement of the banquet room by the Business and Professional Women's club. Those who anticipate attending the dinner are requested to make early reservations with the Bothwell hotel so as to avoid confusion in serving.

The dinner will be at 6:30 o'clock followed by the meeting about 7:30 o'clock.

John R. Van Dyne, chairman of the Quarterback club, will preside over the meeting.

Plane Rams a Tower; Three Dead

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Oct. 29—(AP)—A light aeroplane rammed into a radio tower here today, crashed in flames and killed its three occupants.

Police and Red Cross workers identified the victims as Circuit Judge Thomas H. S. Curd of Welch, W. Va., his son, J. C. Curd, prosecuting attorney for McDowell county, W. Va., and Miss Elizabeth Ellen Hicks, the younger Curd's secretary.

The plane was bringing the trio here for the football game between West Virginia university and the University of Virginia. Witnesses said it was flying at an altitude of between 250 and 300 feet when it smashed into the 391-foot tower of radio station WCHV. The tower was bent but did not topple.

A wing of the plane, identified as a Beechcraft Bonanza, was sheared off by the impact.

"The plane was going west in fog," said T. A. Elliott, a witness to the crash.

Hand Injured By Buzz Saw

A. L. Smith, of Hughesville, was admitted to the Bothwell hospital where he was treated for injuries received when his hand was caught in a buzz-saw Saturday. He was later dismissed and returned to his home.

Council Of P. T. Will Meet

The Sedalia Council of Parents and Teachers will meet Wednesday, November 2 at 2:00 o'clock in the Parish Hall for the regular monthly meeting.

Plane Dead To Santa Maria

PONTA DELGADA, SAO MIGUEL, THE AZORES, Oct. 29—(AP)—The bodies of Marcel Cerdan, the French boxer, and 47 other persons killed in the crash of an Air France Constellation in the Azores will be flown to a special plane is being sent tomorrow to Santa Maria, which has the major airport in these Portuguese Islands, to collect the bodies. It is expected to return to Paris Monday.

A French technical mission headed by Civil Aviation Inspector Louis Mirepoix was at the scene today where the big airliner, north of its normal course, crashed into the side of a mountain on this island. The plane had messaged Santa Maria airport that it was preparing to land only a few minutes before peasants here heard its engines stop and saw flame shoot through rain and fog enveloping the Sao Miguel mountainside.

While the mission sought to determine the cause of the tragedy, rescue workers assembled the charred remains and gathered up jewelry and other possessions scattered over hundreds of yards.

Miss Ginette Neveu, 28-year old French concert violinist, was found with a hand still clutching the case that held her dearest possession a violin reported to be a stradivarius. The case was not damaged.

Banquet of C. Of C. To Be November 14

Big Plans For Event at Sacred Heart School

The banquet committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ike Warren is busy with the many details to have the biggest membership banquet meeting in the history of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Kenneth McFarland of Topeka, Kansas, internationally famous speaker, will adress the group. His topic "Which Knew Not Joseph."

It is planned that there will be 400 people at this banquet which will be held at the auditorium of the Sacred Heart high school, Monday, November 14, and already reservations for the majority of the places have been made.

Reserve Block Sections

This year because of the larger banquet facilities industry and business are reserving block sections for their guests and employees. Arrangements are being made to have prominently displayed the name of the business or industry on the reserved table so that the respective guests may sit together at this outsanding affair of the year.

Introduction of the new board of directors will take place as well as installation of the new officers of the Chamber of Commerce. With the exception of a few other matters to be brought before the membership at large, business will be held to a bare minimum so that as much time as possible can be devoted to Dr. McFarland's address.

Individuals, business, and industry, who have not already done so, are urged to get in their reservations as soon as possible to avoid disappointment and to assist the committee in completing the final arrangements. If ticket sales continue as they have been going, their is a good possibility that the capacity will be sold in advance.

Many Prepare For 'Trick or Treat' Visitors

The "Trick or Treat" custom of Hallowe'en that has taken the place, to a great extent, of vandalism at this gay season of the year, has become as much fun for the grown-up as it is for the children.

Some people, of course, may not welcome the constant ringing of their doorbells at Hallowe'en by the "Trick or Treaters," but most people begin to think a week or so in advance what they are going to have on hand when the children of the neighborhood call.

One family let their leaves pile up and then invited the children of their neighborhood to have a wiener roast, and another woman recalled how much fun she used to have roasting potatoes in the coals of a bonfire and how good those potatoes tasted.

A man living alone has nuts and candy ready for his young callers and two women living next door to each other both baked cookies just for the kids. Some people have bought doughnuts, some apples, and many have bought candy of various kinds and everybody has just as much enjoyment getting ready for the "Trick or Treat" visitors as the youngsters themselves.

A group of women in one neighborhood have gone together for several years with open house for the children in the form of a Hallowe'en party with food and favors, and they readily admit that there isn't a kid in the neighborhood who has any more fun than they do.

U. S. Consul And Four Of Staff Seized

Taken In Charge By Chinese Reds At Mukden

By John M. Hightower

Washington, Oct. 29—(AP)—Chinese Communists have seized the American consul general at Mukden and four members of his staff, it was disclosed today. The State Department at once ordered intervention with the highest Red authorities.

The Communists accused the official, Angus Ward, and his companions of beating unconscious a former Chinese employe. They said the case would go before "the Mukden People's court."

The arrest apparently came a week or so ago. Official word reached here today after taking five days to squeeze out of China. The Chinese Communist radio gave its version today.

About the same time, the State Department hotly denounced actions against American diplomats on the other side of the Communist world—Czechoslovakia. The Red regime there had accused two American diplomats and arrested an embassy clerk on spy charges.

One of the diplomats left the country within the 24-hour limit specified by the Czech government. The other was in Germany when the charges were proclaimed against him and didn't return. The clerk was held in jail at Prague.

May Oust Some Czechs

It was learned that almost certainly the next American step will be ouster of one or two Czech diplomats from this country on the ground their activities are contrary to the interests of the United States.

The Czechs have an embassy here and a consulate in New York and other cities.

State Department officials took note that the Mukden incident fitted a pattern of crackdowns by Communist authorities on American diplomatic outposts in many places.

The Mukden incident, climax of a year of conflict with the Chinese Communists over the office in strategic Manchuria, caused obvious concern among officials here.

They could not tell what the Chinese Communists are driving at—whether they want to try to expel the consulate staff in "disgrace," or are seeking a basis for keeping its members there indefinitely.

Free or Halt Actions

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 29—(AP)—Communist-led Czechoslovakia today freed or halted legal proceedings against 127 Roman Catholic priests who had opposed the government's new church control law.

An official announcement said President Kelement Gottwald had decided on the action because the priests had repented and promised loyalty.

The government first announced that all 127 had been released from prison. Later this was corrected to say that a majority of the priests had been free during "legal proceedings" against them. Presumably, this meant that most of them had not actually been imprisoned.

Church sources have reported about 300 priests under arrest for voluntarily opposing the laws passed Oct. 14, which give a government ministry control of church finances, salaries, personnel and administration.

Meanwhile, American officials were allowed their first interview today with Samuel Meryn, U. S. Embassy clerk of Czechoslovakia birth, who was arrested nine days ago on charges of leading a spy ring.

Tree As Tribute To Mrs. Cotton

Monday morning at 9:00 o'clock Smith-Cotton high school students will plant a magnolia tree in memory of their benefactress, Mrs. Sarah E. Cotton.

The ceremony will be as follows: 9:00 o'clock, The National Anthem and roll call; 9:05, Introduction of speaker by Bob Van Horn: 9:07 Dedication address by Leo Eickhoff and at 9:17 closing remarks describing the senior student council president's part of the program.

The program will be carried to every home room in the high school through the public address system.

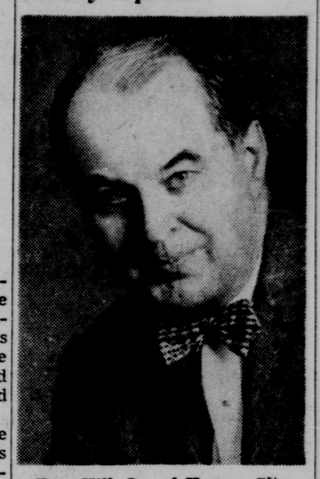
Dies As Truck Skids Into Train; Eighteen Injured

BLUFFTON, Ind., Oct. 29—(AP)—A gravel truck skidded into the side of a westbound passenger train today, killing the truck driver and causing injury to 18 passengers.

The last four coaches of the eight-car Erie railroad train were derailed at the crossing five miles north of here on state highway 1.

Raymond Stram, 24, of Bluffton, Ind., died in the crumpled cab of the truck.

Rotary Speaker



Tom Hill, Jr., of Kansas City, executive director of the School of Professional Salesmanship, will be the guest speaker Monday noon at the meeting of the Rotary club which will be held at Bothwell hotel. The speaker will be introduced by Z. Lyle Brown, program chairman, and will take for his subject: "Salesmanship and Public Relations."

Million Dollar Suit Filed By George Miller

Represents Reverend Howard the "Walkin' Preacher of Ozarks"

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 29—(AP)—The Rev. Guy Howard of Branson, Mo., known as the Walkin' Preacher of the Ozarks, filed a $1,000,000 suit Friday against three record distributing firms.

He contends he was libelled and his right of privacy invaded by distribution of a record entitled "The Missouri Walking Preacher (with a little book in his hand)."

Three Defendants

Named as defendants were the Radio Corporation of America, the Capitol Records Distributing Co., and Decca Records Distributing Corp.

Mr. Howard said in his petition he gained the title of the Walkin' Preacher by walking thousands of miles between 1933 and 1943 in central and southern Missouri performing the services of an ordained minister.

He is the author of two books, "Walkin' Preacher of the Ozarks" and "Give Me Thy Vineyard."

Action on Two Counts

The suit of Rev. Howard, filed through Attorney Miller, is in two counts. In the first count Rev. Howard contends that he has been damaged and libeled by the distribution of a song on records entitled "The Missouri Walking Preacher (With a Little Book in His Hand)," written by Willard Robinson and circulated by the defendants. In this count of his petition Rev. Howard asked for $250,000.00 actual damages and $250,000.000 punitive damages.

In the second count of his petition Rev. Howard claims damage of the defendants because of the alleged invasion of his right of privacy. In this count he asked for $250,000 actual damages and $250,000.000 punitive damages.

Rev. Howard alleges that he came to Missouri in 1933 from Iowa; that between 1933 and 1943, he walked thousands of miles in central and southern Missouri performing the various services of an ordained minister; that he became known throughout Missouri as the "Walkin' Preacher';' that in 1944, he wrote a book entitled, "Walkin' Preacher of the Ozarks," which was an autobiographical treatment of his experiences in following his profession as a minister and teacher in southern Missouri; that following the writing of this book, he received a great amount of favorable publicity throughout the United States in national magazines and newspapers and became familiarly and favorably known throughout Missouri and the entire United States as the "Walkin' Preacher of the Ozarks."

Rev. Howard further alleges that in 1948 his second book entitled "Give Me Thy Vineyard" received a cash award from the P. J. Zendervan Publishing company, publishers.

Huge Fund To Go To Military

President Overrode Congress On Issue Of 58-Group Air Force

By Francis J. Kelly

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—President Truman over rode Congress today on the hotly-debated 58-group Air Force issue.

He signed a $15,585,863,498 military appropriation—the biggest in peacetime history—but in doing so he ordered the Secretary of Defense to impound $615,000,000 that the lawmakers had voted to build up the Air Force to 58 groups.

Mr. Truman's budget provided for a 48-group force and that is about what he'll now get. The air force will acquire about 1,400 new planes instead of 1,800.

Considers Upkeep

In forbidding the proposed expansion of the air arm, the president said in effect that it isn't only the original cost but the upkeep—more men to man the planes, more operating costs, more replacement expenses; all in all "greatly increased" future expenses.

Furthermore, he declared, to give the air force more than provided in his budget would be "inconsistent with a realistic and balanced security program which we can support in peacetime."

The $15,585,863,498 appropriation represents more than $100 for each man, woman and child in the United States. It is far more than one-third of the entire federal budget.

Heads of the House and Senate appropriations committees did not question the validity of the president's action. Senator Byrd (D-Va), who has led a fight to cut federal costs, praised it. But some Republican lawmakers were critical.

Senator Brewster (R-Me), interviewed at Bangor, Me., said he was not surprised at the president's move but added it raises the question: "What are the limits of his disregard of Congress?"

Maine's other senator, Margaret Chase Smith, also a Republican, said she had been for a 70 group air force, doesn't believe 48 groups are enough, and thinks Mr. Truman "could have compromised" on 58.

Division of Sums

The big money bill provides the following sums:

Army: $4,380,644,298 cash.

Navy: $4,285,382,200 cash and $643,546,000 contract authority.

Air Force: $4,088,386,000 cash and $1,992,755,000 contract authority.

Other military operations: $195,150,000 cash. These operations include financing the office of the secretary of defense, the National Security Council and the National Security Resources Board.

The funds cover spending in the current fiscal year, which ends next June 30.

In deciding to "place in reserve" the extra money for the air force, Mr. Truman ran counter to the expressed wishes of the House rather than the Senate. A majority of the senators strongly supported his 48-group program.

The House, however, fought hard for the size-58 force and emphasized its determination by a 305 to 1 vote. The Senate finally gave in and sent the bill to the White House carrying the extra $615,000,000.

Although grumbling was certain to come from House members convinced that the nation should build up its striking power in the air, Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House appropriations committee sent word from Missouri that his group would bow to the desires of the commander in chief.

"He's in a position to understand the situation better than we are," Cannon said.

Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn) of the Senate appropriations committee said he has no doubt that the president has complete authority to withhold the funds.

Senator Byrd, often at odds with Mr. Truman, lauded the president's action in impounding the $615,000,000.

Someone to Love

By IRENE LONNEN ERNHART Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

XXXVI

JENNY was waiting at the front gate of the Steuberwald store at four o'clock and she saw Tod the moment he came out of the building. He walked with his big shoulders hunched, an absent-minded expression on his face.

She punched the horn of the car and he looked up.

"I wanted to talk to you, Tod."

A wary expression crept over his face, like a mask pulled down. "Who told you I was working here?"

"Rick."

A sudden thought seemed to strike him. "Nothing's wrong with the kids?"

"No. Nothing like that."

He stood awkward and uncertain, people streaming past him, some of them looking curious. "Won't you get in, Tod?"

He went around and opened the car door and got in beside her.

Tod was silent as she turned the car up the hill away from town and toward the river. But after a while he spoke, gruffly. "Exactly what do you want to talk to me about?"

An uneasy qualm struck Jenny. "Well, now that you're here," she parried, "it's not going to be as easy as I thought. I—I heard you'd left the Conover Agency."

"I left there the first of the year," he said bluntly.

"Rick told me you and Liz—"

"Yeah, we're all washed up. That happened months ago, too."

Jenny ran her index finger back and forth on the steering wheel. Tod's brusque manner chilled her. "Rick said you were having a tough time financially, and then this trouble, your mother dying and all—"

"Just because I asked your help with Ma, because I was in a jam, is no sign I need your pity. You don't have to go out of your way to do anything for me!"

"I'm not offering you anything."

"Look, just why did you come by tonight and pick me up? What did you want to talk to me about?"

Jenny threw him a tremulous half-frightened look and her eyes swam with quick tears. "I may as well come to the point, Tod. I want you to—to come home."

"You WHAT?"

"I love you, Tod. I've never stopped loving you. I need you so!"

"YOU need me?" The words had an incredulous ring. His handsome face twisted. "But you're going to marry Rick. Nina told me so. Rick said so himself. And I was glad when I heard about it. He's just the sort of a person you ought to be married to, steady, and reliable and good. I've known Rick for a long time, baby, and I know one thing—he'll never let you down."

Jenny tried to speak, but he went on roughly.

"You and I didn't make a go of it once, and we wouldn't again, because we're—we're not cut out for each other. And besides," he added lamely, "Rick will take care of you." He stopped and looked away from her, rubbing his fist in the palm of his hand.

"Tod," she whispered, "look at me. I love you. Even if you aren't in love with me, I'd like you to come back and try again. I want you back—on any terms—your terms."

He couldn't resist any longer. He found himself with his cheek against hers, all at once, feeling the wet warmth of her tears. He heard his own voice, babbling almost without volition. "Jenny darling, my darling, I am in love with you, more than I'll ever be able to let you know."

"Tod."

He drew back. "How could you come to me like this, when I've been such a fool! It took me so long to grow up! To know that I'd been chasing a rainbow that didn't even exist, following an obsession that was just that and nothing else. You can't imagine what it was like, to discover that when Liz was planning our wedding, all I could think of was that honeymoon of ours in that miserable little tourist cabin. I knew then that I loved you. How could you ever take me back after all that's happened?"

"Hush." She lifted her lips and the world spun for an instant as he kissed her.

"And I ruined everything—"

"Everything isn't ruined," Jenny said. "And we're not alone in making mistakes, you and I. Everybody makes 'em."

"Do you honestly think we could start all over again, Jenny?"

SHE nodded, and he took her hands in his and went on earnestly. "Ma said to me once not long ago that having somebody you love, love you in return is the most important thing there is. And I believe it. Ma felt sorry for me—"

"But we have each other again, Tod."

"You wouldn't be able to forget some of the things that have happened," he said doubtfully.

"No. I won't forget. Nor will you. But who cares about that. We need to remember our mistakes, to profit by them."

"If I could just be sure that I wouldn't fail you ever again, that we could have things right for the children—"

"We have each other," Jenny answered, her arms going around his neck once more. "That counts for more than anything. Pop said to me once that you have to fight for what you want in this life, and after you get it you have to fight twice as hard to keep it. I'll never let you go again, Tod."

"I won't go again, darling," Tod said. "The last thing Ma said to me before she died was 'Make it up with Jenny.' She'd be pleased now if she could just know."

Jenny started the car. Her heart was singing as her thoughts leaped ahead to that moment when she and Tod should step across the threshold of the house on Riverdale Road once more. The twins, dressed in their best bibs and tuckers, were waiting there.

What a homecoming this was going to be!

Vote Tuesday On Schools Redistricting

the school or schools would be operated within a reorganized district. Senate bill 307 places no restrictition on the number or location of schools within a new district. It merely provides that there shall be one assessed valuation, one tax rate, and one school board to administer the school or schools of the disrtict. If circumstances warrant the operation of all existing schools within a new district and the residents of the district desire this, the board of directors could continue to operate all the schools. If school enrollments do not justify the operation of all the schools, or if qualified teachers are not available, the board may operate schools in those parts of the district where they are most needed and transport children living at some distance from the operating school.

Inquiries have been received about the tax rate which might be required of a new district. Here again the decision rests with the board of directors and people of the area. In order to qualify for state equalization aid, districts must levy the constitutional limit which the school board can impose. This is 65c in an elementary district and $1.00 in a high school district for teacher and incidental purposes. Any levy beyond these amounts must be approved by a 2/3 majority of the voters of a district. One effect of the reorganization of districts would be tolevel out or equalize inequities in valuations and tax rates. At present the valuation in rural districts range from low of approximately $90,000 to a high of over $760,000. Tax rates vary from 25c in a district where the school is closed and no state aid is granted to a high of $1.50 in an operating district with a low valuation.

A Yen To Elope Poisons Children

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 29—(AP)—A 42-year-old man with a yen to elope today admitted poisoning his two granddaughters, one fatally, to collect insurance money.

Police Chief Joel Holden said the grandfather, Houston Roberts, signed a statement that he slipped poison capsules into medicine for Mary Louise Hill, 5, and Shirley Ann Hill, 4.

The police head said Mary Louse died last July and that Shirley Ann only recently was released from a hospital where reports showed arsenate of lead in the kidneys.

Accuses Woman Friend

Holden said the grandfather's statement accused Mrs. Ruby Pace, 43, of furnishing the poison in both instances.

Roberts is under arrest on charge of attempted murder in connection with Shirley Ann's illness.

Mrs. Pace was arrested yesterday on a similar charge, but denied any connection with the case. She was freed under $3,000 bond but was rearrested tonight for questioning, Holden said.

The middle aged man's statement, Holden continued, declared he poisoned Shirley Ann to collect part of $1,400 in insurance to finance an elopement with Mrs Pace.

Collected $640 Insurance

An $800 policy on Mary Louise, Holden continued, was settled for $640. The beneficiary was the child's mother and Robert's daughter, Mrs. Gladys Hill.

The police chief stated that Roberts admitted cashing the $630 check, giving Mrs. Hill only $30.

Roberts lived with his daughter and her two children at a boarding house she operates here. The children's father, C. R. Hill, works in New Orleans.

Gen. Vaughan In Slight Hot Spot

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, the President's miliatry aide found himself in a slightly hot spot today. His automobile caught fire in nearby Arlington, Va.

He climbed out when smoke began curling up from the dash. Soon after flames enveloped the front end of the car, doing about $300 damage.

Gen. Vaughan phoned the fire department and called his wife to come pick him up.

Then he returned to the fire scene, and signed autographs for spectators.

The general was enroute to his home in Alexandria, Va., at the time of the mishap.

The fire was blamed on a short circuit.

The building was filled with a lot of happy boys and girls in a variety of gayly colored costumes. The Teen Town band played for the first time at the event. The band members are: Ruth Ann Zulauf, Jimmy Dent, Bobby Stanley, Don Gray, Ray Young, and Charles Walch.

It furnished music until 9:30; after which refreshments were served.

As son as the crowd had eaten, the prizes were given for the best costumes and other prizes were awarded.

The building was decorated with black and orange crepe paper.

Dramatic Rescue From Well Pipe

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 29—(AP)—Three-year-old Bobby Gow went home from the hospital today sound and untroubled by his three-hour captivity in an eight-inch wide well pipe.

His doctor said it was unlikely Bobby would remember the terror of his imprisonment.

Bobby, tiny son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gow, slipped from sight into the abandoned well pipe 50 feet from his backdoor yesterday afternoon.

Johnny Schneider, 12-year-old neighbor, saw Bobby disappear, bounded into the house, told Gow and telephone the fire department.

That set in motion a dramatic rescue in which men throughout Austin dropped what they were doing to contribute to the life-saving effort. Police Lt. Otto Ludwig took a quick look down the pipe. His flashlight beam showed the top of Bobby's reddish-golden hair.

"He was screaming and crying. I radioed in for a tube of oxygen and 40 feet of hose. We had it flowing in front of his face less than 20 minutes after he fell in."

A power shovel began biting the earth to one side of the galvanized pipe. When it was down 18 feet fireman M. R. Miller cut a hole in the pipe with a cold chisel and metal snippers. The piece of pipe was laid aside, and a squirming, yelling, 26-pound youngster was lifted into the clear.

"Daddy," yelled Bobby.

Today there was nothing but fresh-turned earth behind the Gow home to recall Bobby's rescue. A bulldozer has pushed the dirt back in the hole, and buried the well.

Rotary Talk On Salesmanship

Tom W. Hill, Jr., executive director of Tom Hill & Associates, Kansas City, Missouri, will talk to the Rotary Club Monday on "Salesmanship and the Average Man."

Mr. Hill, a native Missourian, educated at Wentworth Military Academy, Park College, and the University of Missouri, was a field artillery officer in World War I and has since acquired a national reputation in the field of selling. Last fall he and his asosciates conducted a five week salesmanship course here in Sedalia sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce which was very well received.

Last May he addressed the Regional Economic Conference at the Contential Hotel in Kansas City, Missouri, on the influence the salesman has on the entire business world with suggestions and advise with reference to improvement. At the conclusion of the conference many of Mr. Hill's suggestions were accepted.

As an outcome of Mr. Hill's appearance at the Regional Economic Conference in Kansas City, he was asked to appear on the program of the National Economic Conference to be held at Washington, D. C. in early winter, which invitation he has accepted.

Tom Hill and Associates are now in the process of organizing "Self-Improvement Schools" throughout the midwest, which are similar in nature to the "Salesmanship Course" conducted in Sedalia.

Kills One and Shot Another

BOI SEVAIN, Va., Oct. 29—(AP)—A tough deputy sheriff was shot four times but mustered strength to kill one suspected bandit and wound another in a bloody gun battle here today.

Shot a fifth time before he got the second man, Ed McGlothlin, the leathery, slightly built, 55-year old deputy was in critical condition tonight at a hospital.

The bandit pair are suspected of getting $450 last night in the holdup of a West Virginia state liquor store at nearby Anawalt, W. Va. Boissenvain is in the far southwest corner of Virginia. Anawalt is across the line in the southern tip of West Virginia.

There was a question about the identity of the gunmen.

The wounded man, his thigh fractured by one of McGlothin's bullets, told newsmen he was George McGuire, 50, of Jenkin Jones W. Va.

Officers said they were sure he is Monty Jones, who escaped about six weeks ago with his brother Roscoe from the West Virginia penitentiary at Moundsville.

The officers said they think the dead man is Roscoe. The brothers were serving burglary sentences.

Oppose Widow To Handle Estate

MANILA, Sunday, Oct. 30—(AP)—A Kansas City, Mo., railroad executive today opposed efforts of the filipino widow of his son, the late George C. Murray, to administer the murdered son's estate.

Through legal counsel here, Jerry Murray, father of the slain arms agent and surplus dealer, objected to Mrs. Murray's appointment. Her application now is before the court of the first instance here.

His counsel filed a protest declaring Mrs. Esther Rosario Murray's appointment as administrator would be "an act of wrong" in view of the murder charges pending against her in connection with Murray's death. Her trial will open Monday.

Murray was shot four times Aug. 13 as he slept in a bedroom of his suburban home. The government accuses Mrs. Murray of killing her husband in a fit of jealousy.

Dick Whitney and Dan Dowling each scored twice for Rolla and Gerald Wilson, guard, got the other by returning an intercepted pass 33 yards.

The victory was the fourth straight for the Miners in M. A. A. A. play and leaves only Cape Girardeau in the way of a loop title.

Michigan Team Blasted Illini From Big 10 Lead

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 29—(AP)—The inspirational fury boiling within Illinois on 'Bob Zuppke day suddenly escaped into nothingness with a fumble two yards shy of a touchdown and Michigan took the cue to blast the Illini out of the Big Ten football lead 13-0 today.

Acquittal In Flogging Case

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 29—(AP)—A self-identified ex-Klansman today was acquitted of masked flogging.

The jury's verdict freeing Coleman A. (Brownie) Lollar was greeted with loud applause by courtroom spectators.

Lollar, former special sheriff's deputy, was accused by the state of participating with other robed and masked men in the manhandling of Mrs. Hugh McDanal June 10.

The state said the band broke into Mrs. McDanal's home and forced her to watch a cross-burning.

Mrs. McDanal testified her attackers accused her of "selling whisky and renting rooms to couples."

Just before the jury retired for its brief deliberation—less than an hour—Solicitor Emmet Perry (prosecutor) urged a guilty verdict.

"Tell this man with a lash," demanded Perry, "that he is not above the law."

Immediately after the verdict was announced, Lollar was surrounded by friends who hugged him and pounded him on the shoulders.

Lollar was the first of 18 men to be tried on flogging and related charges. All were indicted after an outbreak of floggings and cross burnings, mostly in the hill country west of Birmingham

States After Cigarette Tax

By The Associated Press

Tax collectors in 38 states are on the hunt for new game—the fellow who buys out-of-state cigarettes by mail order to save paying his state tax.

They hope to flush some $20,000,000 in taxes out of his pockets next year.

The tax men got the go-ahead signal Oct. 19 when President Truman signed new cigarette tax legislation.

This law requires persons selling cigarettes in interstate commerce to furnish the tax administrators of each state where they have customers with a complete list of people—except regularly licensed distributors — receiving such goods during the previous month.

A nationwide survey by the Associated Press showed Saturday that most states plan vigorous tax enforcement. Some are going clear down to single carton level to sock buyers with bills for unpaid taxes and penalties.

There are eight states that have no cigarette taxes. The bulk of the mail order business is conducted from some of these states. They are California, Colorado, Maryland, Missouri, North Carolina, Oregon, Virginia and Wyoming.

Two other states—Illinois and Nevada—are prevented by their own state laws or court decisions from collecting from consumers a tax on cigarettes bought out of state. These states have a sellers rather than users tax, so their residents still can buy mail order cigarettes for their own use without paying a tax.

NLRB Holds Printers Guilty Of Violation

Set Up "Bargaining Strategy" To Impose Close Shop Condition

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today unanimously held the AFL International Typographical Union guilty of violating the Taft-Hartley act.

The board said the big printers union had set up illegally a "bargaining strategy" which tried to impose closed shop conditions in the newspaper publishing industry.

The Taft-Hartley act bans the closed shop under which only union members can get jobs.

The board ordered both the ITU and its Chicago local No. 16 not to try to force "discrimination" against employees in violation of the act.

The board ruled in two cases—charges growing out of the 22-month Chicago newspaper strike which was settled last month; and charges filed by the American Newspaper Publishers Association on behalf of its 800 newspaper members.

The "bargaining strategy" which the board condemned was an attempt to impose "conditions of employment," under which ITU members would work without a contract.

Compel Closed Shop

The board called this an effort to compel employers to maintain closed shop conditions "by the use of a containuing threat to strike."

Actually the ITU and its top officers have been under a federal court injunction since March 27, 1948, forbidding them to engage in the bargaining practices which were alleged to be violations of the Taft-Hartley act.

A board official said the injunction will end when the board's decision is extended in the court, which will be done at once. The decree was handed down by District Judge L. M. Swygert at Indianapolis.

Gerhard P. Van Arkel, ITU general counsel, said the union has the right of appeal but the next step had not been determined.

ITU bargaining policies under condemnation had reached widespread proportions before the courts ruled them out.

The board also ordered the ITU in the ANPA case not to interfere with employers in selection of foremen. This action was by a four to one vote. The union had insisted that newspapers hire only foremen who are members of the union.

The board threw out unanimously a hard fought complaint that the ITU violated the Taft-Hartley law provision which bans "feather bedding." This is a term describing payment for services which are not to be performed.

Not Affect Present Practice

The board held that this section of the law did not pertain to practices in the newspaper printing industry.

At Indianapolis, Don Hurd, secretary-treasurer of the union, said "it is my opinion and the opinion of our attorneys in Washington that the decision will not affect the present practices of the ITU in contract negotiations."

The board's two decisions dealt with recommendations by NLRB trial examiner Arthur Leff in preliminary rulings he filed in August, 1948.

It affirmed all of Leff's rulings.

Leff had made three major findings against the ITU:

1. In the Chicago case, both ITU and the local violated the act by insisting upon closed shop conditions and by refusing to bargain in good faith.

2. In the ANPA case, the ITU was guilty of unfair labor practices by insisting on closed shop conditions.

3. In the ANPA case, it violated the law by insisting that foremen be members of the union.

Leff overruled a number of other complaints against the unions.

In its decision today, the board ordered the union to bargain in good faith if the Chicago Newspaper Publishers Association requested it—and to put any understanding reached into writing.

Then by a vote of 3 to 2, the board made this order to bargain apply to the International Union as well as the Chicago local.

This had been a bitterly argued point.

Motion For New Trial In Will Contest Suit

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., Oct., 29—(AP)—A motion for a new trial in the contest of a $75,000 will has been filed in the Livingston county circuit court.

The case was initiated by Clarence C. Brand of Savannah, Mo., who received only $1 under the will of his father the late William M. Brand. He sued his uncle, John S. Brand, and other relatives, charging the will was not that of his father. A circuit court jury in the case, brought here on a change of venue, held for the defendants.

In the motion for a new trial Brand's attorney set forth 3 reasons. They included the claim that new evidence had been found, including a tombstone with the word "Father" on it, and a claim that the paper on which the will was drawn as not manufactured until after the purported date of signing.

Convicted Slayer Changes His Mind

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 29—(AP)—Reed Leroy Hatton, 20-year-old convicted murdered, has changed his mind. He doesn't want to die.

"It scares me now when I think about it," he said.

The Youth who wrote Gov. Fuller Warren a letter Tuesday explaining why he wanted to die was quoted today as saying:

"I didn't know my mother was trying to help me. I haven't heard from her in weeks so I decided I was just a forgotten man and would be better off dead."

Hatton's family has been trying to get his death sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

Hatton was convicted of the Christmas Eve shooting of Willie Riley in Collier county in 1947. The two men had been drinking, trial testimony showed.

State Attorney General Richard Ervin is still studying the commutation appeal from Hatton's family. The death sentence already has been upheld by the Florida Supreme court.

Proposed School District 10

Proposed school district R-10 would be made up of the present districts of South Side, Prairie Grove, Pacific and Bunker Hill. This is a tier of districts in the southeast corner of Pettis County. The new proposed district, if accepted by a majority of the qualified voters, would be an elementary area.

District R-10 would have an assessed valuation of $872,341. Since the district has a total enrollment of only 34 elementary and 13 high school pupils, it would have the high valuation per child of $20,770. Most of the high school pupils of this area attend Cole Camp high school.

At the present time no school within this area receives state equalization aid, as the resident attendance at each separate school is very low. If the proposed district receives a favorable vote, the total attendance of the district will be used in computing state aid.

The assessed valuations of the separate districts range at present from a low of $134,590 to a high of $400,426. The district with the lowest valuation has the highest levy—85c, and to district with the highest valuation has a levy of only 40c. The other two districts each have a levy of 65c this year.

In addition to the four operating public schools in this area there is a parochial school at Bahner and one at Mora in Benton county, both of which enroll some elementary pupils from parts of this proposed district.

Voting in proposed district R-10 will be at South Side school on Tuesday, November 1st. Polls will be open from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Four Widows Say Engel Married Them

But He Claims Only One Wife Who Is At His Side At Trial

CHICAGO, Oct. 29—(AP)—The first week of the criminal court production of "I Married an Engel" ended abruptly Friday after four widows testified Sigmund (Sam) Engel on a charge of running a confidence game was recessed until Monday after Prosecutor James A. Brown said his last witness, whom he did not identify, had not arrived from Minneapolis.

The wispy-haired, 74-year-old Engel then claimed his "only real wife," Mrs. Pauline Langton Engel, from the spectators' benches and led her away. He is at liberty under bond.

Earlier, the blonde-ringleted 39-year-old widow from New York had giggled, hidden her face from photographers, then suddenly posed for them while pirouetting on tiptoe.

As court adjourned, Engel kissed her gloved hand, murmuring "come honey, baby darling."

"No It's Buttercup"

"No, it's Buttercup," she cooed.

Engel told newsmen he will have 25 character witnesses when his defense opens next week. In addition, he says, Arthur will be there. Arthur is the twin brother Sam blames for all his troubles. The prosecution claims Arthur is a myth.

"Im going to produce Artnur. I said it, and that means it is affirmed."

The state alleges Engel reaped several thousand dollars by marrying, or proposing to marry, well-to-do widows and divorcees, then disappearing with their money, jewels or or other assets, some of which he made certain to liquidate in advance.

On the several widows who testified against him, Engel claimed, "I never saw them before in my life." One of them, he continued "looks like a bale of hay."

At the same time, Engel asserted the bilked widows were "gold diggers."

"The reason they gave me money is they thought I was a millionaire," he declared.

"You mean," a newsman asked, "that they thought they'd take your money before you took theirs?"

"You said it, kid," said Sam, grinning.

Then, to sort of round it out, Sam claimed Arthur really did all the things Sam is accused of, anyway.

Only Decent Woman

He described Mrs. Langton-Engel as "the only decent woman in the bunch," and added:

"Women admire a woman like her—or they will by the time my literature gets on the market."

He said he plans a corporation to publish "about 60 manuscripts, including my own works."

"What if you're convicted?" he was asked.

"I'll never spend a day in jail," Sam shouted. "Next week I'll have my day and I'll knock down all these stories."

So far, Mrs. Annette Kubiak of South Bend, Ind.; Mrs. Corhinne Perry of Los Angeles; Mrs. Florence C. Barrete of Chicago and Mrs. Langston-Engel have testifeid they married Engel at various times. Each said she knew him under a different name, and that each lost her savings or jewelry or both when he disappeared shortly after each marriage.

Red Cross Corner

What is the American Junior Red Cross?

The American Junior Red Cross is the junior membership of the American Red Cross and is the American Red Cross in the schools—public, private and parochial; elementary and secondary. As part of the organized humanitarian program of the Red Cross, it offers its members an opportunity to serve others, both at home and abroad, in peace and in war, through adaptable channels that are correlated with school activities. Thus it forms a link between the schools and the broadening circle of local, national and international society.

1. A real sense of sharing the humane work of the community and the nation through activities carefully integrated with the school curriculum.

2. An increased appreciation of the values of learning through the satisfaction derived from applying what has been learned to service for others.

3. A growing sense of responsibility toward others through working in partnership with adults on community service projects.

4. A broadening horizon of understanding through participation in national and international activities.

5. A satisfying as well as an educationally sound way to contribute to the establishment and maintenance of a just peace.

Junior Red Cross members pack gift boxes for children abroad, filling them with items such as wash cloths, soap, toothbrushes, pencils, pads, erasers and small toys. They make soft toys for shipment to children in war-devastated countries. As classroom groups, members prepare correspondence albums for exchange with groups abroad, and other sections of the United States. They learn First Aid, accident prevention, water safety, nutrition and Home Nursing. Boys and girls have an opportunity to learn essentials of leadership through Junior Red Cross school and chapter wide councils, and leadership training centers.

Junior Red Cross enrollment is November 1-15, and supplies for enrollment, with an overseas gift box, is being forwarded to all the schools.

The Junior First Aid training course will be held at Smith-Cotton Auditorium, Saturday, November 5, 9 a. m. The teacher and two or more of the upper class pupils in all the schools have been invited to attend.

Style Guide for today's woman

By Frances Sagaloff at Sage's

Corduroy is not being tossed aside, but will continue to be popular all winter and into the spring. Plaid corduroy is very good in skirts and before long aqua, rose and other pastels will join the parade of high shades.

Well-tailored skirts and matching weskits will be coming in most any day—long-sleeve white blouses with French Cuffs is just the thing to wear with them. With cooler weather, check your scarf wardrobe, they're very important. Big ones and little ones, wool or silk, you can't have enough. They're less expensive this year too, so stock up and remember they make wonderful gifts.

Missouri Edged Out Nebraska

Tigers Came From Behind With Two T.D. In Final Period To Win, 21-20

By Skipper Patrick

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 29—(AP)—Lady luck refused to smile on a hepped-up Nebraska Cornhusker football team today as the sluggish Missouri Tigers came from behind with two touchdowns in the last quarter for a 21-20 Big Seven Conference victory.

A four-touchdown underdog Nebraska led 20-7 going into the final quarter and had just about convinced itself and a Missouri homecoming crowd of 29,000 that the Tigers were to become victim of a major upset.

Missouri, scoring its fourth successive victory, bounced back into the lead, only after End Fred Hulse had blocked a punt deep in Nebraska territory.

Seven minutes remained in the game, a rough but cleanly fought battle, when Hulse barrelled through to block Ronald Clark's fourth-down punt. Substitute tackle Dave Millican recovered for the Tigers on the Nebraska 14-yard line. Four plays later Halfback Dick Brasnell went the last yard for the touchdown.

Victory Point

Johnny Glorioso, 181-pound halfback from Kansas City who scored the first two Missouri touchdowns, kicked his third extra point for the victory.

With a little luck, Nebraska might have won the game. The Huskers spotted Missouri a touchdown, Glorioso's first, after twelve minutes of play then the Huskers pushed over two six-pointers in the second quarter. Quarterback Fran Nagle got both of them from the one-yard line.

Getting the jump on the Missouri line, Nebraska opened a gap in the left side of the Tigers' forewall midway of the third quarter and Halfback Bill Mueller rambled forty-nine yards to score. He was untouched.

Dick Yost, sophomore halfback, missed his second try for the point after touchdown and with it went Nebraska's opportunity of a tie game.

Glorioso and Braznell each figured prominently in the victory.

Upset In The Making

For Nebraska, it was the savage defense play for three quarters of the Huskerline, headed by Center Tom Novak, that had an upset in the making. Novak intercented a Glorioso pass on the Missouri nineteen yard line to set up the second Nebraska touchdown. His deadly tackling took must of the steam out of the Tigers' early offensive efforts.

Nebraska gave Missouri a real opportunity to score seconds before the first half ended when the Cornhuskers elected to run a fourth-down play from their own four yard line, hoping to run out the time. Missouri held and with time for only one play Braznell failed on a pass into the end zone.

Missouri led in first downs 14 to 7. But Nebraska piscked up 183 yards rushing to 163.

Smith-Cotton Gridders Beat Jays 26 to 2

Tigers Won Their Sixth Straight Game of Season

The Smith-Cotton Tigers won their sixth straight victory of the 1949-gridiron season by overpowering the Jefferson City Jays 26 to 2 in a conference tilt in Jefferson City, Friday night, before a sizeable crowd of spectators, and among them were about 300 Sedalians.

The Tigers received the kickoff, and on their second play, the Jays recovered a fumble on the Tigers' 32-yard line. After the Jays failed to make a first down, the Tigers again took over in their own territory, and worked the ball to the Jays' 18-yard line, before making their first counter, when Gene Dowdy threw a forward pass to Donald Pummill, who was waiting for the ball in the end zone. Dale Whitfield's kick for the extra point was blocked.

Still in the first period, after the Tigers made two first downs, one on Dowdy's aerial to Myron Herrick, the pigskin was moved from their 40 to the Jay's 30-yard line. On the next play, Dale Ruffin counted on a 30-yard sweep on the left side to score. Again, Whitfield failed to convert.

Second Quarter

In the second quarter, the Jays began the march after receiving the kick-off. They moved from their 20 to the Tiger 20 when Jack Doyle connected with Bob Newberry's long throw. Then Newberry tried three unsuccessful passes, followed with a 10-yard run for another first down. The Jays finally gave up on the Tigers' 5-yard line. Dowdy fumbled the first play, and was tackled in the end zone by a Jay to give his team a safety, worth two points. The half time score was 12-2.

The Jays received the kickoff in the start of the second half, and turned the pigskin over to the Tigers on the Jay 20-yard line. Ruffin moved the ball to the 10 marker, and on the next play, tossed to Dowdy, who carried the ball over for the third Tiger score. Dale Whiefield converted.

Shortly after the start of the second half and through the remainder of the game, both teams fought savagely, thereby receiving numerous penalties, the Tigers getting the worst of it, having received about 80-yards in penalties compared to Jays' 30 during the latter half.

For awhile the Tigers were receiving so many penalties, that when the Jays finally were given the red flag for clipping, the official out of force of habit, walked the yardage off against Smith-Cotton, before realizing his error.

During the fury of penalties, fumbles and roughness, Dale Ruffin twice carried the ball over from the 30 and 37 yard lines, but the touchdowns were nullified, due to flags being dropped on the plays.

Final Score

With only a matter of seconds left remaining in the game, Dowdy tossed a 30-yard pass to Ruffin who took it on over for the final tally. Whitfield booted the extra point for the final score, 26 to 2.

The Tigers rolled 210 yards on the ground and gained 83 in passing. They incompleted four passes, and were penalized during the entire game, approximately 100 yards. The Jeff City Jays covered 87 yards on the ground and 60 in the air. They incompleted 9 passes, and received two 15-yard penalties.

Army Cadets Win Their Sixth Straight Victory

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 29—(AP)—The powerful Army Cadets coasted to their sixth straight victory of the season today over a determined but outmanned Virginia Military Institute team, 40 to 14.

After the brilliant Arnold Galiffa had propelled the Army regulars to a safe 27-0 margin at half time, Coach Earl Blaik sent in all the players he could locate, including his son Bob, with the result that the red jerseyed visitors made quite a match of it in the last two quarters.

Irish Played 33rd Game Without Defeat

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 29—(AP)—Machine-like Notre Dame bopped Navy today, 40 to 0, handing the Middies the worst defeat in their football series that began in 1927. It was the 33rd game without defeat for the Irish who set a modern record.

Showing their gridiron wares to an eastern audience for the first time this season, the Fighting Irish broke the game wide open with a 20-point assault in the second quarter. They coasted from there on.

Sport Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

Everybody was over-confident about Missouri's changes with Nebraska Saturday—everybody but Coach Don Faurot. The team, the students, the alumni, and football fans in general thought that it was going to be a "push-over" for the M. U. Tigers—but not Don. He would have liked to have felt that way but he just couldn't, and his feelings were correct—well, the game spoke for itself, and the score was a scratch victory as far as Missouri was concerned.

Let's hope the game Saturday was—THAT GAME—and the players will now settle down and get back to business and play football.

I pulled myself away from the desk Saturday—not that I objected—just so I could see Missouri at its best. For three quarters and about five minutes of the fourth, I had decided I picked the worst game the Tigers would play and probably one which they were going to lose. In fact—not that I am an authority like some of the big-time sports writers—I think Nebraska had every right to have claimed the game as far as the first three quarters and first five minutes of the fourth were concerned.

The Huskers played the pants off the Missouri team during those quarters and five minutes, and Missouri looked about as bad as some high school team on the gridiron. BUT, my time was not entirely wasted—in the last ten minutes of the game I got to see just what Missouri's team was really made of and what type football they have been playing.

In those last few minutes I saw everything, I saw Missouri come from behind like a thoroughbred race horse, and take over the leading score—not that it was a big margin—but enough to say they had won.

Not that the Tigers will get to read this, but I hope if anybody should say anything to them, that they will listen more cautiously to Coach Don Faurot, get his feelings and then fight and go out and win, win over by all means, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, and Kansas State. Then get a BOWL bid.

My hero of the game was none other than Sedalia's own Fred Hulse, Jr., (papa don't burst your buttons) who barrelled through to block Ronald Clark's fourth-down punt. His neat blocking made it possible for Dave Millican to recover the ball on Nebraska's 14-yard stripe. Dick Braznell went across for the score and the kick was good. It was the winning score.

So Sedalia figured in the limelight again, with Hulse furnishing the light. His blocking and the recovery set up the necessary plays for Missouri to win.

After that play Coach Faurot should have a lot of faith in our Sedalia boys—and I am sure he does.

Incidentally Harold Mickens, also a former Smith-Cotton player got into the game, but nothing came around his way for him to show his powers. However he has done it in several games past.

The lesson should be a good one for the Smith-Cotton Tigers. Anything can happen when a team becomes over-confident. Both Missouri and the Smith-Cotton Tigers have been riding a high crest and it is only natural for a bunch of football players to get a little too over-confident at a time like that.

Saturday's game is an excellent example of over-confidence, so S-C Tigers if you have any feeling along those lines—get over it quick before November 11, when Missouri Military Academy shows up on the schedule.

You might think what Coach Dow is telling you is a "ghost story," but it isn't. He means business, he wants to see you Tigers continue the winning streak.

It was interesting to learn the past week that my friend Bill Corum, New York sports writer, fell heir to the presidency of the American Turf Association and also Churchill, a subsidiary. He succeeds the late Col. Matt Winn, the Daddy of the Kentucky Derby, and whose shoes are hard to fill.

Bill Corum is a former neighbor. He was born and reared at Boonville, Mo., and spent some of his boyhood days around Sedalia.

We wish him a lot of success in his new venture.

Pitt, Purdue, Tennessee Dealt Shocking Grid Upsets

By Harold Claasen

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—Pittsburgh, Purdue and Tennessee were rude guests today and dealt out shocking college football upsets to Pennsylvania, Minnesota and North Carolina.

Pitt, manhandled by a weak Indiana team last week, bounced Pennsylvania out of the ranks of the undefeated, 22 to 21, on a safety that was scored 38 seconds before the game ended. Bernie Barkouskie, Pitt guard blocked Ray Dooney's punt for the decisive two points.

Crushed Minnesota

Purdue crushed both Minnesota's Big Ten title and Rose Bowl hopes with a 13 to 7 victory. The Boilermakers found the vaunted Gopher line vulnerable to both passing and running attacks.

North Carolina was subdued by Tennessee, 35 to 6. Halfback Charlie Justice was injured in the fray but he contributed mental and physical errors before he was hurt that helped the Volunteers triumph.

At virtually all the other sites the football form held true.

Notre Dame, leader in the Associated Press' weekly poll, cruised easily past Navy, 40 to 0, with Ernie Zalejski the hero this time.

Oklahoma was held scoreless for a period before it settled down to destroy Iowa State 34 to 7, with five different Sooners scoring touchdowns.

Army had no difficulty at all with Virginia Military, 40 to 14, and Kentucky waited until almost the last minute to master little Cincinnati, 14 to 7. Southern Methodist just got by Texas, 7 to 6, with the convalescing Doak Walker kicking the deciding point.

Some Surprises

But there were some surprises. Fordham announced its return to the major ranks with a fourth straight victory, this one 42 to 0 over a good Georgetown aggregation. The Rams play equally unbeaten Army next Saturday.

Boston University continued its victory skein with a 46 to 6 conquest of Scranton.

Out in the midlands there was excitement galore, Iowa was trailing Oregon, 24 to 6, with only seconds to go in the third period. The Hawkeyes unleashed a scoring attack that brought them a 34 to 31 victory in the next nine minutes.

Michigan ruined an Illinois celebration honoring veteran Bob Zuppke, 13 to 0, and Ohio State sailed smoothly over Northwestern, 24 to 7. By their triumph the Buckeyes moved into a Big Ten tie with Iowa. Wisconsin bounced Indiana, 30 to 14.

Missouri

Missouri kept pace with Oklahoma for the Big Seven honors with a 21 to 20 verdict over Nebraska. The Huskers were ahead, 20 to 7, at the end of the third period.

Duke and Georgia Tech fought on almost even terms until Duke's Billy Cox found the passing range and then the Carolina eleven moved out in front, 27 to 14.

Tulane, showing little effect of its drubbing by Notre Dame, smashed Mississippi State, 54 to 6, with the last half of the game being played in the rain. Other Southeast Conference tilts found Alabama downing Georgia, 14 to 7, and Vanderbilt besting Auburn, 26 to 7.

Baylor remained unbeaten by turning aside Texas Christian, 40 to 14, and Arkansas brushed past Texas A. and M., 27 to 6.

Fourth Ranked Team

California's Golden Bears, fourth ranked nationally, moved a step nearer the Rose Bowl by overpowering UCLA, one of their principal Pacific Coast rivals, 35-21.

By taking the Uclans, the unbeated-untied Bears virtually clinched the Pacific Coast championship.

In other west coast games, Southern California rallied with two touchdowns in the fourth period to beat an aroused Washington team, 40-28, and Santa Clara played a 7-7 tie with Stanford.

Bigger Basketball Schedule For S-H

While the official basketball schedule for the coming season has not been released, the total number of games promises to be higher than last year. There will also be several new teams to invade the home court.

Besides the Alumni opening game on November 11, Catholic Mercy Academy of Marshall will appear on the schedule for the first time. Ararangements are being made to have Otterville on the schedule also.

Coach Palmer Nichols reports that the spirit is fine at the current basketball practices, while the girls' volleyball team is making every effort to present an alert and spirited volleyball team this year.

Sacred Heart basketball and volley ball teams will open their season, November 11, against the alumni team. Lincoln high school will appear in the second home game on November 22 to start out the regular Pettis county league games.

It hos been announced that the activity ticket campaign for the 1949-50 season at Sacred Heart high school get under way. Friday afternoon with a bang. The Student Council under the leadership of Senior Mary Lou Ash is carrying on the drive to double last year's sale of activity tickets.

In Feature Event Wild Bill Longson Meets Coffield

Wednesday's Wrestling Matches In The Sedalia Armory

Feature Match—Will Bill Longson, 235 Salt Lake City, vs. Jimmy Coffield(227, Kansas City. Best two out of three falls, or a 90-minute time limit.

Semifinal Match—Babe Zaharies, 240, Colorado Springs, Colo., vs. Big Mike Sharp, 265, Hamilton, Ontrario. Best two out of three falls, or a 45-minute time limit.

Special Match — Cowboy Roy Graham, 240, Corsicana, Tex., vs. Johnny Swenski, 215, Linn, Mass. One fall, or 30-minute time limit.

Auspices of the American Legion. Matchmaker—Pearl Christy.

First match Wednesday starts at 8:30 p. m.

The biggest names in wrestling—Wild Bill Longson, Big Mike Sharp, Johnny Swenski and Cowboy Roy Graham—will see action in the Sedalia Armory Wednesday night. Matchmaker Pearl Christy has lined up the greatest wrestling card thus far this season and there is certain to be plenty of action in store for the fans.

Topping off the terrific all-star card will be the appearance of Wild Bill Longson, claimant to the world heavyweight title. Longson has been a headliner in St. Louis for several years, holding the record for drawing the most fans for a single match in that city. On one of his matches against Whipper Watson last year a record crowd of 11,200 turned out. Longson triumphed over Watson and has been drawing terrific houses ever since.

Burly Heavyweight

Now the burly Salt Lake City heavyweight comes to Sedalia to establish himself in the Central Missouri area. He will square off against Jimmy Coffield in the feature match. Coffield has been gunning for a top contender spot and jumped at the chance to meet Longson.

Coffield is well aware that his future status in the heavyweight ranks depends on the outcome of his contest with Longson. Neither wrestler could afford a loss, so a rugged match can be expected.

Big Mike Sharp, the powerful 6-foot, 7-inch Canadian marvel, will return to action in the semi-final. Mike gained countless fans in this city two years ago and his return is expected to again meet with the popular approval of the Armory wrestling fans.

Changes Style of Attack

Big Mike has completely changed his style of attack. He has developed more new holds and has been running a long victory string along the eastern seaboard. His return to the midwest is aimed at a shot at Orville Brown's world title. However, Big Mike can expect plenty of trouble when he equares off against the veteran Babe Zaharias.

Zaharias has no intention of relinquishing his bid for recognition. The Colorado Greek is a cagey wrestler and he will extend Sharp to the limit.

Selector Won $36,850 For Owner Wm. Helis

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—William Helis, who has poured millions into racing, gut back $36,500 of it today when Selector, a two-year-old son of Thumbs Up-Bell Came, won the 36th running of the East View stages, one of the Richard offerings for juveniles. before 29,194 fans at Jamaica.

Selector was purchased by the millionaire New Orleans oil man who maintains a lush breeding and training arm at Jobstown, N. J., for $20,000 at the dispersal sale of the Louis B. Mayer stables on the west coast last year.

Today's victory was his fifth in in 15 starts, but his first stakes triumph. Never worse than second, Selector, ridden by Arnold Kirkland, disposed of the pace setting Androcles from the Greentree Stable at the top of the stretch and then had more than enough to stave off a stretch run by Hal Price Healey's Lotowhite.

Selector was the strong favorite, returning a mutuel of $4.70, $3.00 and $2.50.

Farm Ponds Produce Pounds of Fish Food

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—A farm pond can produce more food than could be realized from beef on adjacent land, the Fish and Wild Service said today.

"Fish farmers can expect returns of 50 to 100 pounds of fish per acre in a natural pond, and up to 300 pounds in a well managed, fertilized pond," the agency said.

"Production of beef could come to about 150 pounds an acre."

The agency said that farm fish ponds are growing in importance, particularly in the south.

Texas farmers in recent years have built 200,000 fish ponds, Missourians have built 50,000 in 10 years, Mississippi 22,000 in five years, and Oklahoma is building 7,000 to 8,000 new ponds a year, it said.

Jayhawks Blanked Wildcats

Largest Crowd Ever To See Two Teams At Lawrence

LAWRENCE, Kas., Oct. 29—(AP)—University of Kansas, striking both by air and by land and making the most of the fumbles, shutout Kansas State, 38-0, here today for its first Big Seven Conference football victory of the season.

Before 33,500 fans—the largest number ever to see the two teams here—the Jayhawks got away to an early lead and then uncorked the works in the second half against their rapidly tiring enemy.

Coach J. V. Eikes' double-barrelled air-threat of Dick Gilman and Jerry Bogue worked smoothly along with some neat footwork by Bud French, John Amberg and Willie Modrcin. Two sophomore backs, Hi Faubian and Elmer Creviston, ran consistently for the Kansas State Wildcats who found defensive strength in Kenny Johnson.

Kansas made a 69-yard sustained march at the game's start, the touchdown coming on a short pass from Bogue to Lynn Smith.

Two passes by Gilman, one to Bill Schaake for 40 yars and the other to Forrest Griffith for 14, set up the Kansas touchdown in the second quarter. French scored it on a one-yard plunge.

Chance To Score

Kansas State's best chance to score came in the same quarter. Persistent running of Faubian and Creviston carried the Wildcats to within 15 yards of a touchdown. Then a bad pitch-out by Don Stehley caused Lyle Koontz to fumble and Charles O'Neal recovered.

Passes by Gilman and Bogue set up the Kansans up for their third touchdown. Bogue passed to Schaake for 12 yards after Dick Lomlinson had intercepted Jon O'Connor's pass on the Kansas 25-yard stripe. Forrest Griffith added 23 yards by ground and then Gilman passed 35 yards to French who went the other five yards for the touchdown. Johnny Amberg went off tackle, then cut back down the middle of the field for 28 yards and the fourth touchdown.

Another intercepted O'Connor pass started the Kansans goalward in the fourth period. Dean Wells picked up the pass on his 30-yard line. He raced 39 yards and was in the open when he fell. Wade Stinson helped out with eight yards, and a 15 yard personal penalty momentarily set the Kansans on the eight. A few plays later Henry Lamping went over for the touchdown.

Modrcin intercepted Don Stehley's pass on the Kansas State 34 as the crowd was beginning to leave. Two runs by him for 15 yards and 10 yards placed the Kansans within four yards of the touchdown. A person penalty set the Kansas back to the 13 from where Ken Morrow passed to Dale Mallon for the touchdown with only three minutes left.

Allot Money For Hospital Building

WASHINGTON, Oct. 30—(AP)—The recently revised hospital construction allotment law may give low-income areas in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri more opportunity to build hospitals, nurses homes or additions to them.

The public health service said today that under the newly amended law Oklahoma will have $3,683,879 (M) available for this fiscal year for use on approved projects, Kansas $2,044,104 (M) and Missouri $4,340,297 (M).

The former law required each state to set up its own agency, survey needs for hospitals, additions, alternations, equipment and nurses homes.

The government could pay up to one-third of the cost if the states put up two-thirds on projects approved by the surgeon general.

Now, the health service said, the federal government can pay up to two-thirds which would aid low income areas.

It's Tops—from the bottom up!

Fact to remember: When you look at a car, any car, you only see about 40% of what you're paying for.

That's why—when experienced buyers come in to look at a Packard—we often invite them to take a "road's-eye view." We like to show and describe hidden values such as these:

Double-solid-panel body construction—over a frame that looks husky enough to be a battleship's backbone!

Special alloys that make the engine almost "wear-proof." Fact: In high-speed, 25,000-mile endurance runs, Packard cylinder wear is less than the thickness of this newspaper page!

Extra ball and roller bearings—more than you'll find in any other car in Packard's price class. Like the jewels in a fine watch, these costly bearings guard vital parts against wear.

The list goes on and on, and on—and it covers all the big reasons for Packard's superior safety and comfort . . . and Packard's amazing economy.

And how consistent has Packard quality been—in the hidden features, as well as the on-the-surface features? Answers Of all the Packards built—in the last 50 years—over 50% are still in service!

Delivered here—at new lower Golden Anniversary prices, you can buy this 135-HP Packard Eight, six-passenger Club Sedan for only $2,317.10*

Phil Burford In Accident

Car Practically Demolished Near Lone Jack, Mo.

Phil R. Burford, 1006 South Grand avenue, narrowly escaped death Friday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock, when his car was hit three miles east of Lone Jack, and practically demolished.

According to Mr. Burford he was driving a new Chevrolet west on Highway 50 en route to Kansas City on business. There was a truck behind him and a car in front of him as they approached a hill, all going at a moderate rate of speed, Mr. Burford said, when suddenly a 1948 Buick Roadmaster, driven by Ira A. Bixby, of Holden was in a sideswipe with his car. Mr. Burford said that his car was hit on the side at the back door, and according to a man from Warrensburg, who observed the accident, "must have gone about 15 feet in the air." The car, Mr. Burford said, then rolled about 130 feet, turning over several ties, the last time coming down on a fence post which went through the gasoline tank of the car.

Head Through Glass

Mr. Burford stated that his head went through the glass on the side of the car but his hat kept him from being cut. His head, however, was bruised and x-rays taken at the Bothwell hospital Saturday revealed that a verterbrae was out of place. Highway patrolmen at the accident were Troopers R. G. Place and C. W. Keith, of Lee's Summit.

The car driven by Bixby was owned by McVeigh and Co., Inc., Feed Store company, of Holden. Bixby, Burford said, after the accident turned around and came back to the scene.

When he realized something had hit him, Mr. Burford said, he braced himself as best he could with one foot on the pedal and one foot on the brake and held on with all his strength to the steering wheel. The patrolmen told him, he said, that holding on as he did saved him from more serious injuries. The Burford car was brought in to the Thompson Chevrolet garage here.

Be Mehornay Manager Here

Milton L. Barnes has been promoted to manager of the Mehornay furniture store in Sedalia. Mr. Barnes comes to Sedalia from the Mehornay store in Columbia where he served as assistant manager for three years. Prior to that time he was in merchandising with the Firestone company.

M. L. Barnes

Mr. Barnes is a World War II veteran, having served as staff sergeant with the 128th Field Artillery. Born in Jefferson City, he attended high school in Columbia and is a graduate of Missouri university. He is married, is a member of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Royal Arch Masons.

Statements On Taxes Soon

New Method To Avoid Standing In Line For Paying

Miss Hazel Palmer, Pettis county collector, said although taxes are not due and payable until November 1, 1949, all tax receipts are in her file and ready for payment any time the taxpayer feels like coming in and paying them.

Mrs. Henry W. Heitman has been acting as an extra deputy and will continue through the tax season with the collector's office. Miss Palmer has also had other extra help, and it is hoped that the tax statements will be in the mail in the early part of November, instead of near the limit of December 15, as the law provides.

A recent act of the legislature has made it possible for statements to be mailed to the address of the taxpayer as shown on the tax books. It is believed that these statements will be a great convenience to the taxpayer. Many have sold their property or have purchased property and they may or may not be responsible for paying the 1949 tax on the property they purchase, but which is carried in the former owner's name, and the statements will give each type of owner an opportunity to adjust their own tax payment agreements. Also the statements will remove the necessity of the person standing in line at the tax window on the second floor of the court house.

About 15,000 Be Mailed

Taxpayers can mail the statement with a check or money order, and their receipts will be mailed to them. All taxpayers who have loans on their property will probably not receive a statement for tax on the property covered by the loan since almost all loan agencies request this information for their own use, due to the fact that they take care of the taxes on their loans. For this reason, in the past many taxpayers have overlooked paying taxes on their personal property and any other property they may have owned.

When these statements are received by the taxpayer, they will reveal whether or not the taxpayer has any unpaid real or personal property tax carried in his name, or if real estate, it will be shown anyway.

Miss Palmer said that approximately 15,000 statements will be mailed to Pettis county taxpayers from her office this year.

Auto Collision Injures Four

W. R. Wasson and Little Son In The Bothwell Hospital

Four persons, involved in one of three automobile collisions that occurred in Sedalia, Saturday received injuries. William R. Wasson and his 14-month old son, Richard Dean Wasosn, 619 East Boonville are patients at the Bothwell hospital. The son received lacerations of the right side of his head and a broken left leg. The father was admitted to the hospital for an injured right kidney. Mrs. Wasson, who was also riding in the car, received abrasions of the right side of her head, cement burns about the head and face and lacerations about the right knee and lower part of her right leg. She was not admitted to the hospital. All three were treated by Dr. C. D. Osborne.

Betty Lou Case, 14, a passenger in another car which collided with the Wasson automobile, received a chest injury. The collision occurred Saturday afternoon about 12:10 o'clock at Fourth street and Montgomery avenue, when a 1935 Oldsmobile sedan, driven by William Wasson was in collision with a 1940 Plymouth coupe, driven by Art Case, Clinton. The right side of the Oldsmobile was damaged, and the Plymouth was badly wrecked practically all over.

Bonds Are Posted

Both drivers posted bonds at the police station, for their appearance in police court, Monday morning.

At 11:10 o'clock, Saturday morning, three trucks, all being driven west on Broadway in the 900 block, collided when the first truck line stopped. According to the police accident report, the drivers, T. M. Moriarty, Thirty-eighth street and Ingram avenue: Kenneth Austen, 1117 East Broadway and F. S. Henderson, 1101 East Eleventh street, posted bonds for their appearance in police court Monday, in an endeavor to settle damages that were encountered.

Saturday night, at 7:17 o'clock a 1941 Plymouth sedan, driven by R. E. Rodger, 916 South Ohio avenue, which was being driven east, turned over at Seventh street and Lamine avenue, when in collision with a 1938 Packard ambulance, owned by the Gillespie funeral home, and driven by Frank Coffman, Jr., 1806 South Sneed avenue.

Drivers and passengers in both vehicles escaped injuries. The Plymouth was badly wrecked. The ambulance was damaged in the front end.

Prison Term To Henry Harker

K. C. Jury Cites Two Witnesses For Contempt

Both Are Ordered By Judge Duncan To Appear Nov. 7

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 29—(AP)—A federal grand jury, investigating gambling, Friday night cited two witnesses for contempt.

The jury charged that Max Ducov and his brother-in-law, Nathan L. Bassin, had given "obstructive, evasive, perjurious and contumcious answers to questions propounded before the grand jury."

Federal District Judge Richard M. Duncan ordered the two men to appear Nov. 7 to show cause why they should not be imprisoned for civil contempt.

Ducov, a beer salesman, and Bassin, a beer distributor, first were questioned by the grand jury Oct. 18. Both have been questioned every day this week.

Gave Evasive Answers

The jury took Bassin before Judge Duncan last Saturday and told the judge the witness was giving evasive answers. The judge warned Bassin then that he must answer questions truthfully.

The jury, in a six-page document, listed specific questions which Bassin and Ducov allegedly failed to answer about their dealings concerning the sale of a tavern to Bassin.

Bassin, former bank employe whose income was not large, testified that in 1945 he paid $5,500 for a half share in the tavern Later he paid $5,500 for his partner's share.

He testified he got the money from a trunk in his attic and a paper box in his bedroom closet to make the deals. His total accumulation in the hiding places was $7,500, he said. He told the jury he could not remember discussing this money with his wife.

Last January Bassin bought the Duke Sales Company a wholesale beer agency, from Ducov. He said he paid $2,500 in cash for the agency and took over $45,000 in liabilities and $75,000 in assets.

Bought Beer Agency

The jury alleged that Bassin refused to tell truthfully where he got the $7,500 or to tell the true arrangement he had with Ducov in buying the beer agency.

Both men stood silent in court when Judge Duncan read part of the jury's allegations.

More than 100 witnesses waited to appear before the grand jury today while the members were questioning the two men.

Ducov, the grand jury charged, refused to disclose what he did with $43,000 allegedly obtained from the Duke company, or the details about the sale of the agency.

MANHUNT COMES TO END—Police search the body of Gus Tompkins, 43, after an intensive manhunt over a large area of Wichita, Kas. Tompkins, suspected of arson, shot himself through his right temple as the officers closed in after he had critically wounded Otis Turner, deputy state fire marshal, who was following the fugitive in an auto. Wants Authority To Pay Back Int.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 29—(AP)—The Missouri Pacific trustee asked Friday for court authority to pay $12,961,245 in back interest to first mortgage bondholders of the railroad and several of its subsidiaries.

Federal District Judge George H. Moore set a hearing on the petition for Nov. 9. Guy A. Thompson, the trustee, told the court the payments would be in best interests of the railroads, which are now in the process of reorganization.

The back payments would include:

To holders of Missouri Pacific first and refunding mortgage bonds, series A, F,G, H and I, covering the year 1941, $11,159,525.

To holders of International-Great Northern first mortage bonds, covering the year 1941, $1,610,000.

To holders of Cairo and Thebes railroad first mortgage bonds, $135,920.

To holders of Central Branch, Union Pacific, first mortgage bonds, $55,800.

Boy Falls In Well Shaft and Rescued Alive

Son Of Austin Tex., Printer Imprisoned In Well Three Hours

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 29—(AP)—A three year old boy fell 14 feet down a narrow shaft of an abandoned well Friday and was rescued alive three hours later.

Bobby Gow, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gow of Austin, toppled into the 10-inch shaft about 2:48 p. m. while playing. A 12-year-old playmate saw him fall and spread the alarm.

His rescue came at 5:42 p. m. after three steam shovels, compressed air hammers, and volunteer pick and shovel workers tore away the earth from the 20-foot hole.

Cut Hole In Pipe

A fireman and a gas company employe pulled the lad from a hole cut into the side of the metal pipe that had held him captive. A crowd of about 2,000 persons was held back by police ropes. They cheered and clapped their hands as they caught sight of the tiny boy. He was immediately placed on a stretcher and rushed to a hospital, accompanied by his mother and a physician.

Bobby's sister, Peggy, 12, excitedly told how her brother had fallen:

"Mother sent me out to get him and I saw his head go down the hole."

Oxygen Line Into Shaft

An oxygen line had been run into the well shaft soon after Bobby's head was sighted. Then rescuers succeeded in looping a rope about his arm. They were afraid to try pulling him out, believing they might injure him or the rope might slip off.

Neighbors went to work with picks and shovels before firemen and police arrived.

The father is a printer at a local publishing firm.

Deputy Fire Marshal Condition Improved

WICHITA, Kas., Oct. 29—(AP)—A deputy state fire marshal's daughter said Friday he is "improving from face and arm wounds inflicted Thursday by a Negro he sought to question.

It still is too early to learn whether her father's eyesight was affected, said Miss Roberta Turner—a registered nurse aiding in his care.

She said it is feared that shotgun pellets may have penetrated her father's eyes, "but the swelling hasn't gone down yet so we can tell whether they are where they will do harm."

Otis Turner, 42, was wounded at close range by two blasts of a .12 gauge shotgun fired, police said, by Gus Tompkins, 43.

In another hospital, Tompkins was reported "still in critical condition" from head wounds. Police said Topkins shot himself when officers cornered him after he wounded Turner.

Salmon fishing annually has more than repaid the original cost of $7,200,000 which the United States paid for Alaska in 1867.

There's B-36 Battle in Texas, Too, As AF Fights Training Headaches

Pictures and Text
By HAROLD GULLY
NEA Staff Correspondent

FORT WORTH, Tex.—(NEA)—The big and controversial B-26 bombers roar into the air every day from the runways at Carswell Air Force Base, untouched by the turbulent battle of the B-36 in Washington.

The battle at Carswell is not between Navy and Air Force, but against problems that have kept the B-36 training program from moving as fast as the Strategic Air Command would like it to move.

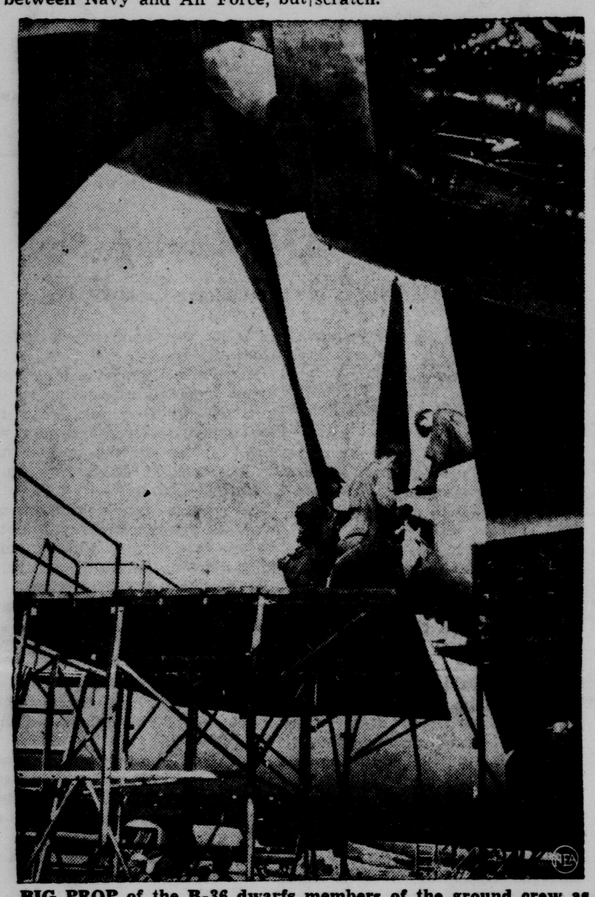
Men and materials are the headaches of the 8th Air Force, which took over the B-36 program on a field originally built for the medium-sized B-25.

Nearly everything starts from scratch.

Pilots are given transition checkouts on the big bomber, and they in turn check out other pilots assigned to B-36 training. Bombardiers and navigators have to have special training for the plane's unique equipment. Even veteran gunners have to start all over, because the guns of the B-36 are different and more complicated than any used during the war.

As a further complication, the B-36 is not being produced fast enough to provide sufficient planes for constant training of 8th Air Force crews assigned to them.

Of the two bomb groups at Carswell, one is at full strength, which means 30 planes under Strategic Air Command recommendations. The other is not at full strength, either in men or material. Some of its planes are at Rapid City, S. D., however, where a mobile training unit is being conducted for line crewmen and mechanics.



BIG PROP of the B-36 dwarfs members of the ground crew as they work on an engine at Carswell Air Force Base.

BIG BOMBER takes a lot of crew—and a lot of training. Here the crew of one B-36 lines up under the wing with each man's equipment spread out for the pilot to check.

From the start, the 8th Air Force has been plagued with shortages of heavy equipment necessary for the maintenance of the B-36, which is one reason many of the plants stay on the ground after a minimum number of flight hours.

B-36 engines are so big a new "build-up" assembly line had to be developed so they could be worked on vertically. Engines arrive at the field without any fittings except cylinders and shaft; the mount, exhaust stacks, blowers and other equipment is added by mechanics at the base. A "merry-go-round" assembly line, built at Carswell, now cuts the time for "build-up on the 18-foot engines in half.

At present, there are no "mock-ups" to aid fledgling B-36 crew members in their classroom work. During the war, such aids speeded training on the ground by showing crews how parts of the plane worked. But a "mockup" of the B-36 would cost close to a million dollars, and that isn't in the training budget just now.

Carswell's trainees will have to be content with a crashed B-36, which will be utilized as far as possible, as a "mockup." First they'll have to wait until the air inspectors get through their investigation of the crash.

When the 8th Air Force does get all the B-36s it hopes to have, there'll be still another headache. The field, built for B-25s, later was a B-24 transition base and after the war housed B-29s. Even without a full complement of planes for its two B-36 groups, it's tough to find room to park the new bomber on Carswell's ramps.

Crossroads Comment

by G. H. S.

Forty years ago there appeared on the front page of the Sedalia Democrat, a cartoon showing balloons of baskets of lamb, pork, beef, fowl and embalmed meats rising into the air while Mr. Consumer watched with a telescope from below, "Going Up" was the caption.

There were only two grocery advertisements in the paper that week, small ones, Hicks the Grocer and Menefee's all advertising staple goods, including Hick's imported swiss cheese at 40 cents per pound and Menefee's lump coal at $3.50 per ton.

Other regular advertisers forty years ago included: St. Louis Clothing Company, Flower-Barnett, McLaughlin Bros., Quinn Bros. Shoe Store, Third National Bank, Queen City Electric Company, Stanley Coal Co., Dorn-Cloney Laundry, Sedalia Trust Co., Landman Abstract & Title Co., Archias Seed Store, Bell Telephone Co., Peter Hoffman Hardware, W. E. Bard Drug Co., Missouri Pacific and M. K. & T. railroads.

These advertisers are still active which indicates there must be something to the old slogan: "It Pays to Advertise."

—o—

"Well, honey, you don't make pies like mother used to make."

"Well, dear, you don't make the dough like father used to make."

—o—

Some husbands, however, do make more dough today than their father-in-laws used to. However more dough is needed today than it was years ago.

—o—

Of all known diseases suffered by mankind, approximately 80 per cent gain entrance to the body through the mouth. Presumably the other 20 per cent are expelled by the mouth in the form of gossip and slander.

—o—

That Admiral Louis E. Denfeld should be fired from his post as the nation's top admiral by President Truman may be necessary from the standpoint of the armed services unification program. Such matters are determined by the big-wigs. It gets around to the point of military ethics and who's boss—the private or the captain. In this case it's the admiral or the commander-in-chief, Mr. Truman. So the admiral is fired.

Regardless of current developments, the Admiral is a top man, both by naval service and by personality. A year ago this month I had the pleasure of sitting beside Admiral Denfeld at an Inland Daily Press Association luncheon when he was guest speaker. He was billed as a 40-year veteran of submarine, destroyer, battleship and shore service; combat commander of a battleship division which supported the Okinawa landings and bombarded the Japanese home lands, and commander in chief of the Pacific fleet in 1947.

This impressive background hadn't put the admiral's nose in the air like it does some brass. He radiated geniality and down to earth conversational exchange that to a smalltown newspaper man made him a truly likable personality.

So I have a personal regret in learning of the admiral's current difficulties on the Washington scene, though he doesn't seem like one crying in his beer over the matter. Says Admiral Denfeld:

"For thirty-one years I've been sticking by my guns and if they want to kick me out, I'm still sticking by my guns."

The admiral may be mild-mannered at a speaker's table but I imagine he can be tough on occasion. We'll probably hear more about him in the years to come.

—o—

Absence makes the heart grow fonder—even of locomotive whistles.

Sedalians who previously expressed irritation over the shrill whistles of Missouri Pacific trains passing in the night, have just about concluded it is better to have the whistles than no trains at all and no one working at the Missouri Pacific shops.

For 46 days before the trainmen's strike ended Sedalians themselves were doing some whistling in the dark as shop payrolls diminished and business started dropping off.

There is more comfort in a whistle's shrillness than anyone ever believed before.

—o—

Aside from Sedalians' elation over the end of the strike there is none greater than that of Jimmy Kirkpatrick, public relations director for Governor Forrest Smith.

Jimmy declares with a modicum of modesty spiced with fealty that Governor Smith played no small part in paving the way for the end of the strike impasse by spark-plugging the governor's conference suggesting ways and means for the dissenting parties to settle their difficulties. Jim: "Why the management and trainmen weren't even speaking to each other until after the conference," says Jim. "And they settled their differences on the suggestions made by Governor Smith."

—o—

To the giver and to the recipient, courtesy is not only painless but exhilirating. Lack of it under any circumstances is not only inhuman but disagreeable. Genuine courtesy cannot be bought or sold, it is as free as the air we breath. In our daily lives let's breath more of it, in and out.

Major Steel Companies Are Divided Over Type of Pensions

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON,—Here are some of the things that are taking place backstage in the steel strike discussions:

1. Inside the steel companies: The major companies are divided regarding the contributory or noncontributory pension plan. Inland Steel already has a good pension plan, while Jones and Laughlin, together with Bethlehem, favor a pension plan whereby labor does not contribute; for the following reasons:

Only 10 per cent of the workers continue in their employ until they reach the age of 65. When they leave before that age under a worker-contribution plan, they take their contributions with them, which entails complicated bookkeeping. But when they do not contribute, the amount set aside for them by the company stays in the fund and mounts up. Thus the company, over the years contributes less and less money.

Flatly opposed to Bethlehem, Jones and Laughlin, and Inland is the giant of the industry, U. S. Steel, which sets the competitive pace. Despite all arguments, U. S. Steel has held out against a company-contributed pension plan—chiefly as a matter of principle. It claims that labor should not get something for nothing, that labor should contribute at least a small part of the pension.

Possibly this view is influenced by the fact that directors of U. S. Steel include heads of other companies—Walter Gifford, of American Tel and Tel; Sewell Avery, of Montgomery Ward and U. S. Gypsum; James Black, of Pacific Gas and Electric—which might be affected by any pension precedent set for the steel industry.

2. Inside the White House—presidential advisers have discussed with Truman the idea of invoking the Taft-Hartley act, but he is opposed for this reason:

The United Steel workers already have suspended a strike for 77 days at his request—practically the equivalent to the 80-day suspension possible under the Taft-Hartley act. If the president now invoked the T-H act, it is feared labor might refuse to obey the injunction. And if half a million men refused to obey their government, the nation would face not only a breakdown of Democracy, but reverberating ammunition would be handed to Moscow for use in every country in the world.

Furthermore, the president's fact-finding board's recommendations have been accepted by the union, though rejected by management. That is why other White House friends, including Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh, Jack Arvey of Chicago and Chairman Boyle of the Democrat National committee have been urging Truman to put the bee squarely on the steel companies.

Note 1—Phil Murray, testifying before the president's fact-finding board, invited the steel executives to appear before Congress with him and urge passage of a better old-age-pension bill. They refused. Despite this, if Congress had remained in session and tackled the entire problem of old-age pensions for all old people, not merely those who belong to unions, a pattern might have been worked out for the nation.

Note 2—Thought U. S. Steel refused to go for noncontributory pensions now, it was the same U. S. Steel company which gave a noncontributory welfare fund to John L. Lewis and the coal miners in 1947. This precedent given to Lewis sets a goal which Phil Murray and other union leaders now have to equal.

Pentagon Merry-Go-Round

Ironic twist of fate: The Navy is now bitter at Adm. Louis Denfeld even though he went all-out for them before Congress. Other admirals felt his blast was too late, that he had played footsie with the Army and Air Force in the privacy of the joint chiefs of staff. . . . Navy lobbyist pulled wires to get Adm. William H. Blandy appointed in Denfeld's shoes as chief of Naval operations. . . . Adm. Forest Sherman isn't popular with his co-admirals. They figure he was the first to drill a hole in the dike that led to unificaton. What happened was that Sherman was appointed by Secretary Forrestal to sit down with Gen. Lauris Norstad of the Air Force and work out unification. Result was the milk-and-water unification bill of 1947, now considerably strengthened. Brother admirals never forgave Sherman for this. . . . Admiral Sherman was top war planner on Admiral Nimitz's staff in the Pacific, is a brilliant strategist, fought for airplane carriers when other admirals were still fighting for battleships. . . . While the Navy's friends in Congress are pleading for peace, the Navy is still waging an undercover campaign against usually gentle Gen. Omar Bradley. They enlisted the powerful voice of Walter Winchell, long-time Naval Reserve officer, in a campaign against Bradley. Winchell did his best for the Navy during the war, got kicked around for his pains, but is still loyal. . . . Also it was considered no accident that Congressman John McCormack of Boston unloosed an out-of-the-blue blast at General Bradley. The Boston Navy yard is about to feel the effect of Secretary Johnson's economy move, and some of McCormack's constituents will lose their jobs.

Under the Dome

Michigan's Congressman Lesinski, the Detroit Democrat who staged a sitdown strike against the aid-to-education bill, is already in for re-election trouble. Walter McNary, a Wyandotte, Mich., shoe retailer, will run against him in the primary. McNary stands strong with labor. . . . Despite the need for economy and the full coverage given the armed services row by the press associations, the Navy insisted on sending small newspapers voluminous verbatim transcripts of every word the admirals said about the Air Force. . . . Yet the Public Relations Offices of Army, Navy and Air Forces are supposed to be consolidated. . . Newsman Burnet Hershey has been studying Truman's health, comes up with the inside story of how he keeps fit—in Look magazine this week. . . . There is an ironic twist in the New York Senate race between John Foster Dulles and ex-governor Herbert Lehman. What most people don't know is that Dulles' law firm, Sullivan and Cromwell, have been the lawyers for Lehman Brothers for many years. Usually, the lawyer helps his client. . . . Tito will pay off the United States for helping Yugoslavia win a seat on the Security Council—by a Yugoslav peace treaty with the royalist Greek government.

Music Modes

THE Sedalia Symphony orchestra's first concert of the season, last Monday night, contained Victor Herbert's selections from "Naughty Marietta," and was well received by the audience. However, few people know how America obtained Mr. Herbert, one of the leading light opera composers of all time.

The maternal grandson of Samuel Lover, Irish painter, composer and author, young Herbert was seven when he left his native Dublin and crossed the channel to Germany, where he was to study to become a doctor of medicine. By the time he reached the age of fifteen his vocational ideas began to change, however, and he decided to become a musician.

He selected the violoncello as his instrument and studied with the best instructors in Europe. After he attained considerable skill he was featured as a guest artist with many groups in Europe and was the first cellist of the Royal court orchestra, while in Stuttgart studying composition.

Between the trying efforts of writing canons and fugues, young Herbert managed to find time to fall in love with Therese Forster, a young, attractive opera singer. Their music likes and dislikes being about the same, they courted for some time and were planning to be married when a scout for the Metropolitan Opera company appeared on the scene and offered Miss Forster a contract After much deliberation she accepted the terms of the contract on the condition her husband-to-be also be employed on his ability as a cellist.

The two lovers were married and in 1866 came to New York. Therese made a fair debut but was soon to be forgotten and more content to be the wife of one of America's fast rising, young composers and conductors.

During his employment with the Metropolitan orchestra, he was much sought after as a guest soloist with other groups. After leaving the Met orchestra he led and directed several large organizations including the famous 22nd Regiment band and the Pittsburgh Symphony orchestra. In 1904 he organized his own orchestra and was active with this company on Sunday night concerts for more than twenty years.

During his lifetime he wrote more than forty operettas and two grand operas. The "Natoma" was one of the few attempts to produce American grand opera; with American scenes and American history as its inspiration.

Songs from his operettas include such zinging numbers as "The Italian Street Song" to the flowing and romantic, "I'm Falling in Love With Someone."

According to the publicity department of the Sedalia Men's Choral club, Victor Herbert compositions occupy an important place in the club's book and are surely to be scheduled in the group's forthcoming Sedalia concert.

According to an article that appeared in the Kansas City Times on September 24th, there's a certain Dutch engineer in this country that's out to revolutionize that now standard way of writing piano music.

The name that has been tagged to this new thing is "Klavarskribo." According to the dutchman, Cornelius Pot, his new method of writing is "more logical to read." An excerpt from the article reads as follows:

"There are no sharps or flats, simply black notes and white notes, black notes for black keys and white notes for white keys. All the notes have tails, too, with tails for the treble sticking right and tails for the bass sticking left, the whole business coming down 'logically' like a waterfall or a player-piano roll with (we assume) the proper note dropping logically on the proper finger."

Mr. Pot hasn't stopped here. Oh, no, he's even whipped up an instrument to record the notes as the pianist plays them. Probably this wouldn't be of too much value for the beginner but for the more accomplished pianist who sits down to the 88 and pulls from the keys intoxicating improvised music it would be fine.

The last of the article goes: "Perhaps (the thought just occurred to us) the difficulty of piano playing has been this horizontal approach to it. Maybe its inner secret, like that of the fountains, elevators, Chinese writing and human beings themselves, is vertical."

The Bible Story

JACOB

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth in a series of studies from the Old Testament. The text is condensed from selections by Houston Harte for the new book "In Our Image." Illustration by Guy Rowe is also from the book.

When Isaac was old, and his eyes were dim, so that he could not see, he called Esau his eldest son, and said, My son: I know not the day of my death: Now therefore take, I pray thee, thy weapons, and go out to the field, and take me some venison and make me savoury meat, such as I love, and bring it to me, that I may eat; that my soul may bless thee before I die. And Rebekah heard when Isaac spoke to Esau. And Esau went to the field to hunt for venison.

And Rebekah spake unto Jacob her son, saying, Behold, I heard thy father speak unto Esau thy brother saying, Bring me venison, and make me savoury meat, that I may eat, and bless thee. Now therefore, my son, obey my voice. Go to the flock, and fetch me two good kinds of goats; and I will make savoury meat for thy father, that he may eat, and bless thee. And Jacob said, Behold, Esau is a hairy man, and I am smooth: My father will feel me, and I shall seem to him as a deceiver; and I shall bring a curse upon me, and not a blessing. And his mother said unto him, Upon me be thy curse, my son: only obey my voice. And he went, and fetched, and brought them to his mother: and his mother made savoury meat, such as father loved. And Rebekah took goodly raiment of her eldest son Esau, and put them upon Jacob: And she put the skins of the kids of the goats upon his hands, and upon the smooth of his neck: and she gave the savoury meat and the bread, into the hand of Jacob.

And he came unto his father, and said, My father: and he said, Here am I; who art thou, my son? And Jacob said, I am Esau thy first born; arise I pray thee, sit and eat of my venison, that thy soul may bless me. And Isaac said unto Jacob, Come near me, I pray thee, that I may feel thee, my son, whether thou be Esau or not. And Jacob went near unto Isaac; and he felt him, and said, Try voice is Jacob's voice, but the hands are the hands of Esau. And he discerned him not. And he said, Bring it near me, and I will eat of my son's venison, that my soul may bless thee. And his father Isaac said unto him, Come near now, and kiss me, my son. And he smelled his raiment, and blessed him, and said, See, the smell of my son is as the smell of a field which the Lord hath blessed: Therefore God give thee of the dew of heaven, and the fatness of the earth, and plenty of corn and wine: Let people serve thee, and nations bow down to thee; be lord over thy brethern, and let thy mother's sons bow down to thee: cursed be every one that curseth thee, and blessed be he that blesseth thee.

And it came to pass, as Jacob was yet scarce gone out from the presence of Isaac, that Esau came in from his hunting. And he said, Let my father arise, and eat of his son's venison, that thy soul may bless me. And Isaac said, Who art thou? And he said, I am thy son, thy first born Esau. And Isaac trembled and said, Who? where is he that hath taken venison, and brought it me, and I have eaten and have blessed him? yea, and he shall be blessed. And when Esau heard the words of his father, he cried with a great and exceeding bitter cry, and said, Bless me, even me also, O my father. And Isaac answered and said unto Esau, Behold, I have made him thy lord, and all his brethren have I given to him for servants; and with corn and wine have I sustained him: and what shall I do now unto thee, my son? And Esau said, Hast thou but one blessing, my father? bless me, even me also, O my father. And Esau lifted up his voice and wept. And Isaac answered and said unto him, Behold, thy dwelling shall be the fatness of the earth, and of the dew of heaven from above; and by thy sword thou shalt live, and shalt serve thy brother; and it shall come to pass when thou shalt have the dominion, that thou shalt break his yoke from off thy neck.

Many Men Are 'Marriage Shy' Because of Women's Careers

A bachelor writes me complaining that no woman in his community has ever singled him out for any attention, and sent me to thinking.

Maybe a lot of men who are slow about getting married are just sitting around for an up-and-coming woman to set her cap for them,

Single women are pretty independent these days. With their good jobs, their freedom and their evident self-sufficiency a shy, retiring man might find them unapproachable.

Without a pretty good opinion of himself a bachelor might figure that a woman, who possibly has as good a job as he does, might not be interested in swapping it and her independence to become his wife.

Women are quick to assume that the man who isn't married is living without a wife by choice. They figure that since it's a man's place to do the pursuing, he'll get out and find a wife if he wants one.

But I'm convinced a lot of men today aren't as aggressive as women assume they are. I've had too many letters from men who say they would like to get married, but don't know how to go about meeting girls.

So maybe career women who want to get married ought not to be too modest and retiring when they meet an unattached man.

He May Need Encouraging

He may be unmarried because he is waiting for a woman to single him out, and let him know he has a chance with her.

A little friendliness on the woman's part might give him the encouragement he's been waiting for.

Anyhow, it ought to be worth a few tries. It's a cinch no bachelor is going to find it unpleasant to have a woman single him out for a little friendly attention.

The Doctor Says

BY EDWIN P. JORDAN, M. D.

Written for NEA Service

During recent years, doctors have come to recognize a peculiar disease of the lungs which is called virus pneumonia or atypical pneumonia. It is generally believed that one or more viruses are responsible.

The disease usually starts much like typical influenza with cough and running eyes and nose. Later the lungs become affected in a patchy sort of way. This is quite different from the usual type of pneumonia caused by a well-known germ called the pneumococcus, often called lobar pneumonia.

Virus pneumonia apparently takes about two or three weeks to develop after exposure. It begins rather gradually, usually without the typical chilly feeling of other kinds of pneumonia. The temperature rises more or less slowly and the cough becomes more and more annoying. Unlike lobar pneumonia, the cough generally does not raise much mucus.

Effects May Last

The disease often lasts from one to two weeks, but the changes in the lungs as shown by X-ray pictures may stay for 1 or 11 weeks. At present most patients with this peculiar disease eventually recover completely. The weakening effects and perhaps some cough may hang on for weeks or even months. People who have had virus pneumonia often complain that they do not feel normal for four or five months.

Until recently most treatments tried have not been particularly effective. Now, however, a relative of penicillin called aureomycin has been favorably reported on. It is hard to be sure about this treatment because virus pneumonia patients often get well promptly without any treatment at all. Nevertheless, this is certainly the most promising treatment so far proposed.

Caroline Ellis, who is heard on the Happy Home program each morning at 9:30 Monday through Friday, is one of our favorites, as you may have gathered from reading this column. Caroline is now back on the "School house" series, too, and can be heard in "Magic Book" each Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. Caroline writes and narrates these dramatic presentations, and although they are particularly for the children, we have found that people of all ages enjoy hearing these dramatic presentations.

The history re-enactment feature "You Are There" resumes its fall series this afternoon at 4:00 o'clock over KMBC. Subject of today's program will be the "Trial of Aaron Burr." Special "on-the-scene" reporting will be handled by John Daly, Quincy Howe, Don Hollenbeck, Ned Calmer and Ken Roberts. Radio dramatist Michael Sklar recreated the trial from authentic source material, and we hope you'll tune in for this fall's premiere performance.

Sports director Sam Molen journeys to Lincoln this next Saturday afternoon to bring you a play-by-play account of the traditional Kansas-Nebraska football game. Tune in at 1:45 for Sam's account of one of the oldest rivalries in the midwest.

Saturday night at 8:30 over KMBC, you'll hear the first program in the new "Lum 'N Abner" series. Originally set to begin two weeks ago, the program has delayed its fall premiere until November 5. Hope you'll tune in for the adventure of the Pine Ridge store proprietors.

Once again Phil Evans, Bob Riley and Ken Parsons had a busy week at the American Royal. They had a busy time visiting with old and new friends from the Kansas City area. The KMBC-KFRM booth and Chatauqua Hall, scene of daily broadcasts during the Royal was a popular place, with large crowds each day. All of us were glad to see so many of our old friends. And, by the way, KMBC's farm reports and market broadcasts, handled by Evans, Riley and Parsons are the most popular in mid-America. We hope you folks will continue to listen to these morning programs that are up-to-the-minute on all of the latest markets and farming information.

Hope Is Faint In Strikes

Talks Continue With Leading Steel Producers Of The Country

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 29—(AP)—Another sliver of hope slanted feebly across the nation's darkened steel-coal strike picture today.

The government — working feverishly to crack the industry-stifling steel deadlock—dropped squarely in the lap of the CIO United Steelworkers a move by small producer to recall the Presidential Fact Finding Board for clarification of its peace formula.

Otherwise, the situation remained as dour as ever.

The steel and coal strike twins have outgrown their swaddling clothes. A robust four and six weeks old respectively, they have left the nation's economy battered.

While President Truman says the strikes do not yet add up to a national emergency, more than a million workers are idled and losses are in the hundreds of millions of dollars.

Requests For Aid

In the steel and coal capital of Pittsburgh, requests for jobless aid are flooding state employment offices at the rate of 10,000 a day, most of them as an indirect result of the strikes. That's the pattern elsewhere.

Federal mediators are continuing talks with top steel producers. The coal strike is just jogging along with negotiations off until Tuesday.

Steelworker President Philip Murray has 500,000 unionists out of the mills in his fight for free pensions and insurance. United Mine Workers Chief John L. Lewis doesn't call strikes but 380,000 of his men are staying home in support of his fight for a new contract with more pay, more pensions.

Recall of the steel fact finders was suggested by President William H. Colvin Jr., of Crucible Steel company in Pittsburgh. He directed the request to U. S. Mediation Director Cyrus H. Ching, who passed it along to Murray.

Up To Policy Body

In Cleveland for the convention of the CIO which he also heads, Murray was not available for comment. But Steelworker Secretary-Treasurer David J. McDonald said a decision on recall of the board would be up to the union's policy committee.

The fact finders recommended a 10-cent hourly package of company insurance and pensions. The steelworkers accepted but industry balked at paying the freight without worker contributions.

Colvin said he thought the industry-wide dispute could be settled by "individual collective bargaining, company by company, as the board recommended."

He asked for the board to clarify its recommendations as they apply to small steel producers.

The chairman of the board, Dr. Carroll R. Daugherty, said the board could only be recalled if both the union and the industry request it.

Ching, meanwhile, moved his operations from New York to Washington where he plans to talk with officials of Republic Steel, Jones and Laughlin and Youngstown Sheet and Tube companies Tuesday.

Republican Senator Morse of Oregon laid the blame for failure to settle the dispute on the "blind stubborness" of the big steel producers, and called on them to grant the union's demands for the pension-insurance package.

Seven Named To C. Of C. Board

A judging committee started counting ballots at 9:00 o'clock Saturday morning in the election of the new board members of the Chamber of Commerce.

Names of the new members were released Saturday by R. M. Overstreet, president of the Chamber of Commerce, and are as follows: Claude Boul, Jack Cunningham, A. W. Haller, Virgil Herrick, William Hurlbut, Jr., D. S. Lamm and Abe Silverman. The seven men were chosen as board members by the vote of the entire membership of the Chamber of Commerce from 14 names presented on the ballot by the nominating committee.

Other members of the board are: W. C. Askew, Cline Cain, Frank Hayes, Maurice Hogan, C. W. Mathieson, Mrs. Ike Warren and O. W. Wiley.

There will be a called meeting of the board in the near future for the purpose of electing a president, first vice-president, second vice-president and treasurer.

Plunges 1500 Feet To Death

PORTLAND, Oct. 29 —(AP)— A 20-year-old college student plunged 1,500 feet to his death on the icy slopes of Mount Hood today.

Don Welk, Portland, lost his footing in a rocky, ice-sheathed chute 300 feet from the summit of the 11,245-foot peak just at dawn.

He tumbled head-over-heels down the precipitous V-shaped cut and then slid out on glacial ice. His 17-year-old sister watched him fall. It was several hours before it was certain that he was dead, although a climbing companion, Bob Buscho, reported at Timberline lodge in asking aid that he showed no signs of life.

A party from the lodge climbed up the mountain and found Welk's body at the base of Illumination rock, a vast cliff formation on the mountain's south side.

Vote Tuesday On Schools Redistricting

Judges and Clerks Chosen In The Places To Vote

Pettis county will be one of 25 Missouri counties which will vote on Tuesday, November 1st, on a reorganization plan for the county school system. Fifty-eight counties in Missouri had voted by October 1st and as a result of their elections 844 districts have been merged with other districts to form new enlarged school administrative units.

In Pettis county the qualified voters of the county outside Sedalia will vote on whether they wish to reduce seventy-nine existing districts into ten proposed districts. In addition to the voting by Pettis countians, the resident voters of one Cooper county district and one Morgan county district will vote on whether to become a part of one of the proposed Pettis county areas. Sedalia voters will not vote on the proposition, as the county board of education made no change in the present boundaries of the Sedalia school district when the plan for school reorganization was drawn up.

Four For High Schools

Of the proposed new districts, four would be high school districts and the remaining six would be elementary districts. The high school districts would be R-2, Houstonia and Hughesville; R-4, LaMonte; R-6, Smithton; and R-8, Green Ridge.

In any proposed district where a majority of voters favors the proposition for enlarging the school district. Within thirty days after the Nov. 1st election, there will be a special election held within the district to select a new board of six members for the school district. In the interim between the Nov. 1st election and the organization of the new school board, the country board of education will be responsible for transacting necessary business of the district.

If a majority of the voters in a proposed district vote against the proposal to reorganize, the separate districts of the proposed area will remain exactly as they are at present with no change of school boards or boundaries taking place for at least one year.

Each proposed area will have a separate election and the outcome of the voting in one area will have no effect upon the outcome of any other area.

Quarterback Club to Hear Ass't Coach

Chauncey Simpson, Assistant to Coach Don Faurot, Coming

Chauncey Simpson, assistant coach to Coach Don Faurot of the University of Missouri, comes to Sedalia Wednesday night, November 2, to speak to the Sedalia Quarterback club at a dinner meeting to be held at the Bothwell hotel. The meeting will be in the Ambassador room of the hotel after which motion pictures of the Iowa State game won by Missouri 32-0 and the Oklahoma A. & M. game won by the M. U. Tigers 21-7.

Coached Champions

Simpson went to the University of Missouri with Faurot in 1935 and skippered the Tigers through 1943- 1944, and 1945 campaigns while the headman Faurot was in the Navy. His 1945 team won the Big Six title and went to the Cotton Bowl.

Chauncey Simpson

"Chaunce" as he is better known to his football players works with backs. It's his headwork which is exhibited on the gridiron in these tough games, by the shifty Tigers and which has done much to win games for the university.

He will be the commentator during the showing of the pictures. In the showing of various plays he will stop the camera, show the play in slow motion and at the same time will explain the play as it is being made, regardless whether it's the Tigers or the opposition.

Needs No Introduction

Simpson needs no introduction to Sedalians. He has appeared before the Quarterback club in the past, spoke at various Civic club noon day meetings, talked to the Smith-Cotton high school football banquet and played golf here with the Columbia team against Sedalia. He is a man who football fans really enjoy hearing.

The meeting was changed to Wednesday night instead of Thursday night due to a previous engagement of the banquet room by the Business and Professional Women's club. Those who anticipate attending the dinner are requested to make early reservations with the Bothwell hotel so as to avoid confusion in serving.

The dinner will be at 6:30 o'clock followed by the meeting about 7:30 o'clock.

John R. Van Dyne, chairman of the Quarterback club, will preside over the meeting.

Plane Rams a Tower; Three Dead

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Oct. 29—(AP)—A light aeroplane rammed into a radio tower here today, crashed in flames and killed its three occupants.

Police and Red Cross workers identified the victims as Circuit Judge Thomas H. S. Curd of Welch, W. Va., his son, J. C. Curd, prosecuting attorney for McDowell county, W. Va., and Miss Elizabeth Ellen Hicks, the younger Curd's secretary.

The plane was bringing the trio here for the football game between West Virginia university and the University of Virginia. Witnesses said it was flying at an altitude of between 250 and 300 feet when it smashed into the 391-foot tower of radio station WCHV. The tower was bent but did not topple.

A wing of the plane, identified as a Beechcraft Bonanza, was sheared off by the impact.

"The plane was going west in fog," said T. A. Elliott, a witness to the crash.

Hand Injured By Buzz Saw

A. L. Smith, of Hughesville, was admitted to the Bothwell hospital where he was treated for injuries received when his hand was caught in a buzz-saw Saturday. He was later dismissed and returned to his home.

Council Of P. T. Will Meet

The Sedalia Council of Parents and Teachers will meet Wednesday, November 2 at 2:00 o'clock in the Parish Hall for the regular monthly meeting.

Plane Dead To Santa Maria

PONTA DELGADA, SAO MIGUEL, THE AZORES, Oct. 29—(AP)—The bodies of Marcel Cerdan, the French boxer, and 47 other persons killed in the crash of an Air France Constellation in the Azores will be flown to a special plane is being sent tomorrow to Santa Maria, which has the major airport in these Portuguese Islands, to collect the bodies. It is expected to return to Paris Monday.

A French technical mission headed by Civil Aviation Inspector Louis Mirepoix was at the scene today where the big airliner, north of its normal course, crashed into the side of a mountain on this island. The plane had messaged Santa Maria airport that it was preparing to land only a few minutes before peasants here heard its engines stop and saw flame shoot through rain and fog enveloping the Sao Miguel mountainside.

While the mission sought to determine the cause of the tragedy, rescue workers assembled the charred remains and gathered up jewelry and other possessions scattered over hundreds of yards.

Miss Ginette Neveu, 28-year old French concert violinist, was found with a hand still clutching the case that held her dearest possession a violin reported to be a stradivarius. The case was not damaged.

Banquet of C. Of C. To Be November 14

Big Plans For Event at Sacred Heart School

The banquet committee under the chairmanship of Mrs. Ike Warren is busy with the many details to have the biggest membership banquet meeting in the history of the Sedalia Chamber of Commerce.

Dr. Kenneth McFarland of Topeka, Kansas, internationally famous speaker, will adress the group. His topic "Which Knew Not Joseph."

It is planned that there will be 400 people at this banquet which will be held at the auditorium of the Sacred Heart high school, Monday, November 14, and already reservations for the majority of the places have been made.

Reserve Block Sections

This year because of the larger banquet facilities industry and business are reserving block sections for their guests and employees. Arrangements are being made to have prominently displayed the name of the business or industry on the reserved table so that the respective guests may sit together at this outsanding affair of the year.

Introduction of the new board of directors will take place as well as installation of the new officers of the Chamber of Commerce. With the exception of a few other matters to be brought before the membership at large, business will be held to a bare minimum so that as much time as possible can be devoted to Dr. McFarland's address.

Individuals, business, and industry, who have not already done so, are urged to get in their reservations as soon as possible to avoid disappointment and to assist the committee in completing the final arrangements. If ticket sales continue as they have been going, their is a good possibility that the capacity will be sold in advance.

Many Prepare For 'Trick or Treat' Visitors

The "Trick or Treat" custom of Hallowe'en that has taken the place, to a great extent, of vandalism at this gay season of the year, has become as much fun for the grown-up as it is for the children.

Some people, of course, may not welcome the constant ringing of their doorbells at Hallowe'en by the "Trick or Treaters," but most people begin to think a week or so in advance what they are going to have on hand when the children of the neighborhood call.

One family let their leaves pile up and then invited the children of their neighborhood to have a wiener roast, and another woman recalled how much fun she used to have roasting potatoes in the coals of a bonfire and how good those potatoes tasted.

A man living alone has nuts and candy ready for his young callers and two women living next door to each other both baked cookies just for the kids. Some people have bought doughnuts, some apples, and many have bought candy of various kinds and everybody has just as much enjoyment getting ready for the "Trick or Treat" visitors as the youngsters themselves.

A group of women in one neighborhood have gone together for several years with open house for the children in the form of a Hallowe'en party with food and favors, and they readily admit that there isn't a kid in the neighborhood who has any more fun than they do.

U. S. Consul And Four Of Staff Seized

Taken In Charge By Chinese Reds At Mukden

By John M. Hightower

Washington, Oct. 29—(AP)—Chinese Communists have seized the American consul general at Mukden and four members of his staff, it was disclosed today. The State Department at once ordered intervention with the highest Red authorities.

The Communists accused the official, Angus Ward, and his companions of beating unconscious a former Chinese employe. They said the case would go before "the Mukden People's court."

The arrest apparently came a week or so ago. Official word reached here today after taking five days to squeeze out of China. The Chinese Communist radio gave its version today.

About the same time, the State Department hotly denounced actions against American diplomats on the other side of the Communist world—Czechoslovakia. The Red regime there had accused two American diplomats and arrested an embassy clerk on spy charges.

One of the diplomats left the country within the 24-hour limit specified by the Czech government. The other was in Germany when the charges were proclaimed against him and didn't return. The clerk was held in jail at Prague.

May Oust Some Czechs

It was learned that almost certainly the next American step will be ouster of one or two Czech diplomats from this country on the ground their activities are contrary to the interests of the United States.

The Czechs have an embassy here and a consulate in New York and other cities.

State Department officials took note that the Mukden incident fitted a pattern of crackdowns by Communist authorities on American diplomatic outposts in many places.

The Mukden incident, climax of a year of conflict with the Chinese Communists over the office in strategic Manchuria, caused obvious concern among officials here.

They could not tell what the Chinese Communists are driving at—whether they want to try to expel the consulate staff in "disgrace," or are seeking a basis for keeping its members there indefinitely.

Free or Halt Actions

PRAGUE, Czechoslovakia, Oct. 29—(AP)—Communist-led Czechoslovakia today freed or halted legal proceedings against 127 Roman Catholic priests who had opposed the government's new church control law.

An official announcement said President Kelement Gottwald had decided on the action because the priests had repented and promised loyalty.

The government first announced that all 127 had been released from prison. Later this was corrected to say that a majority of the priests had been free during "legal proceedings" against them. Presumably, this meant that most of them had not actually been imprisoned.

Church sources have reported about 300 priests under arrest for voluntarily opposing the laws passed Oct. 14, which give a government ministry control of church finances, salaries, personnel and administration.

Meanwhile, American officials were allowed their first interview today with Samuel Meryn, U. S. Embassy clerk of Czechoslovakia birth, who was arrested nine days ago on charges of leading a spy ring.

Tree As Tribute To Mrs. Cotton

Monday morning at 9:00 o'clock Smith-Cotton high school students will plant a magnolia tree in memory of their benefactress, Mrs. Sarah E. Cotton.

The ceremony will be as follows: 9:00 o'clock, The National Anthem and roll call; 9:05, Introduction of speaker by Bob Van Horn; 9:07 Dedication address by Leo Eickhoff and at 9:17 closing remarks describing the senior student council president's part of the program.

The program will be carried to every home room in the high school through the public address system.

Dies As Truck Skids Into Train; Eighteen Injured

BLUFFTON, Ind., Oct. 29—(AP)—A gravel truck skidded into the side of a westbound passenger train today, killing the truck driver and causing injury to 18 passengers.

The last four coaches of the eight-car Erie railroad train were derailed at the crossing five miles north of here on state highway 1.

Raymond Stram, 24, of Bluffton, Ind., died in the crumpled cab of the truck.

Tom Hill, Jr., of Kansas City, executive director of the School of Professional Salesmanship, will be the guest speaker Monday noon at the meeting of the Rotary club which will be held at Bothwell hotel. The speaker will be introduced by Z. Lyle Brown, program chairman, and will take for his subject: "Salesmanship and Public Relations."

Million Dollar Suit Filed By George Miller

Represents Reverend Howard the "Walkin' Preacher of Ozarks"

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 29—(AP)—The Rev. Guy Howard of Branson, Mo., known as the Walkin' Preacher of the Ozarks, filed a $1,000,000 suit Friday against three record distributing firms.

He contends he was libelled and his right of privacy invaded by distribution of a record entitled "The Missouri Walking Preacher (with a little book in his hand)."

Three Defendants

Named as defendants were the Radio Corporation of America, the Capitol Records Distributing Co., and Decca Records Distributing Corp.

Mr. Howard said in his petition he gained the title of the Walkin' Preacher by walking thousands of miles between 1933 and 1943 in central and southern Missouri performing the services of an ordained minister.

He is the author of two books, "Walkin' Preacher of the Ozarks" and "Give Me Thy Vineyard."

Action on Two Counts

The suit of Rev. Howard, filed through Attorney Miller, is in two counts. In the first count Rev. Howard contends that he has been damaged and libeled by the distribution of a song on records entitled "The Missouri Walking Preacher (With a Little Book in His Hand)," written by Willard Robinson and circulated by the defendants. In this count of his petition Rev. Howard asked for $250,000.00 actual damages and $250,000.000 punitive damages.

In the second count of his petition Rev. Howard claims damage of the defendants because of the alleged invasion of his right of privacy. In this count he asked for $250,000 actual damages and $250,000.000 punitive damages.

Rev. Howard alleges that he came to Missouri in 1933 from Iowa; that between 1933 and 1943, he walked thousands of miles in central and southern Missouri performing the various services of an ordained minister; that he became known throughout Missouri as the "Walkin' Preacher;" that in 1944, he wrote a book entitled, "Walkin' Preacher of the Ozarks," which was an autobiographical treatment of his experiences in following his profession as a minister and teacher in southern Missouri; that following the writing of this book, he received a great amount of favorable publicity throughout the United States in national magazines and newspapers and became familiarly and favorably known throughout Missouri and the entire United States as the "Walkin' Preacher of the Ozarks."

Rev. Howard further alleges that in 1948 his second book entitled "Give Me Thy Vineyard" received a cash award from the P. J. Zendervan Publishing company, publishers.

Huge Fund To Go To Military

President Overrode Congress On Issue Of 58-Group Air Force

By Francis J. Kelly

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—President Truman over rode Congress today on the hotly-debated 58-group Air Force issue.

He signed a $15,585,863,498 military appropriation—the biggest in peacetime history—but in doing so he ordered the Secretary of Defense to impound $615,000,000 that the lawmakers had voted to build up the Air Force to 58 groups.

Mr. Truman's budget provided for a 48-group force and that is about what he'll now get. The air force will acquire about 1,400 new planes instead of 1,800.

Considers Upkeep

In forbidding the proposed expansion of the air arm, the president said in effect that it isn't only the original cost but the upkeep—more men to man the planes, more operating costs, more replacement expenses; all in all "greatly increased" future expenses.

Furthermore, he declared, to give the air force more than provided in his budget would be "inconsistent with a realistic and balanced security program which we can support in peacetime."

The $15,585,863,498 appropriation represents more than $100 for each man, woman and child in the United States. It is far more than one-third of the entire federal budget.

Heads of the House and Senate appropriations committees did not question the validity of the president's action. Senator Byrd (D-Va), who has led a fight to cut federal costs, praised it. But some Republican lawmakers were critical.

Senator Brewster (R-Me), interviewed at Bangor, Me., said he was not surprised at the president's move but added it raises the question: "What are the limits of his disregard of Congress?"

Maine's other senator, Margaret Chase Smith, also a Republican, said she had been for a 70 group air force, doesn't believe 48 groups are enough, and thinks Mr. Truman "could have compromised" on 58.

Division of Sums

The big money bill provides the following sums:

Army: $4,380,644,298 cash.

Navy: $4,285,382,200 cash and $643,546,000 contract authority.

Air Force: $4,088,386,000 cash and $1,992,755,000 contract authority.

Other military operations: $195,150,000 cash. These operations include financing the office of the secretary of defense, the National Security Council and the National Security Resources Board.

The funds cover spending in the current fiscal year, which ends next June 30.

In deciding to "place in reserve" the extra money for the air force, Mr. Truman ran counter to the expressed wishes of the House rather than the Senate. A majority of the senators strongly supported his 48-group program.

The House, however, fought hard for the size-58 force and emphasized its determination by a 305 to 1 vote. The Senate finally gave in and sent the bill to the White House carrying the extra $615,000,000.

Although grumbling was certain to come from House members convinced that the nation should build up its striking power in the air, Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House appropriations committee sent word from Missouri that his group would bow to the desires of the commander in chief.

"He's in a position to understand the situation better than we are," Cannon said.

Chairman McKellar (D-Tenn) of the Senate appropriations committee said he has no doubt that the president has complete authority to withhold the funds.

Senator Byrd, often at odds with Mr. Truman, lauded the president's action in impounding the $615,000,000.

Someone to Love

By IRENE LONNEN ERNHART

Copyright, 1949, NEA SERVICE, INC.

XXXVI

JENNY was waiting at the front gate of the Steuberwald store at four o'clock and she saw Tod the moment he came out of the building. He walked with his big shoulders hunched, an absent-minded expression on his face.

She punched the horn of the car and he looked up.

"I wanted to talk to you, Tod."

A wary expression crept over his face, like a mask pulled down. "Who told you I was working here?"

"Rick."

A sudden thought seemed to strike him. "Nothing's wrong with the kids?"

"No. Nothing like that."

He stood awkward and uncertain, people streaming past him, some of them looking curious. "Won't you get in, Tod?"

He went around and opened the car door and got in beside her.

Tod was silent as she turned the car up the hill away from town and toward the river. But after a while he spoke, gruffly. "Exactly what do you want to talk to me about?"

An uneasy qualm struck Jenny. "Well, now that you're here," she parried, "it's not going to be as easy as I thought. I—I heard you'd left the Conover Agency."

"I left there the first of the year," he said bluntly.

"Rick told me you and Liz—"

"Yeah, we're all washed up. That happened months ago, too."

Jenny ran her index finger back and forth on the steering wheel. Tod's brusque manner chilled her. "Rick said you were having a tough time financially, and then this trouble, your mother dying and all—"

"Just because I asked your help with Ma, because I was in a jam, is no sign I need your pity You don't have to go out of your way to do anything for me!"

"I'm not offering you anything."

"Look, just why did you come by tonight and pick me up? What did you want to talk to me about?"

Jenny threw him a tremulous half-frightened look and her eyes swam with quick tears. "I may as well come to the point, Tod. I want you to—to come home."

"You WHAT?"

"I love you, Tod. I've never stopped loving you. I need you so!"

* * *

"YOU need me?" The words had an incredulous ring. His handsome face twisted. "But you're going to marry Rick. Nina told me so. Rick said so himself. And I was glad when I heard about it. He's just the sort of a person you ought to be married to, steady, and reliable and good. I've known Rick for a long time, baby, and I know one thing—he'll never let you down."

Jenny tried to speak, but he went on roughly.

"You and I didn't make a go of it once, and we wouldn't again, because we're—we're not cut out for each other. And besides," he added lamely, "Rick will take care of you." He stopped and looked away from her, rubbing his fist in the palm of his hand.

"Tod," she whispered, "look at me. I love you. Even if you aren't in love with me, I'd like you to come back and try again. I want you back—on any terms—your terms."

He couldn't resist any longer. He found himself with his cheek against hers, all at once, feeling the wet warmth of her tears. He heard his own voice, babbling almost without volition. "Jenny darling, my darling, I am in love with you, more than I'll ever be able to let you know."

"Tod."

He drew back. "How could you come to me like this, when I've been such a fool! It took me so long to grow up! To know that I'd been chasing a rainbow that didn't even exist, following an obsession that was just that and nothing else. You can't imagine what it was like, to discover that when Liz was planning our wedding, all I could think of was that honeymoon of ours in that miserable little tourist cabin. I knew then that I loved you. How could you ever take me back after all that's happened?"

"Hush." She lifted her lips and the world spun for an instant as he kissed her.

"And I ruined everything—"

"Everything isn't ruined," Jenny said. "And we're not alone in making mistakes, you and I. Everybody makes 'em."

"Do you honestly think we could start all over again, Jenny?"

SHE nodded, and he took her hands in his and went on earnestly. "Ma said to me once not long ago that having somebody you love, love you in return is the most important thing there is. And I believe it. Ma felt sorry for me—"

"But we have each other again, Tod."

"You wouldn't be able to forget some of the things that have happened," he said doubtfully.

"No. I won't forget. Nor will you. But who cares about that. We need to remember our mistakes, to profit by them."

"If I could just be sure that I wouldn't fail you ever again, that we could have things right for the children—"

"We have each other," Jenny answered, her arms going around his neck once more. "That counts for more than anything. Pop said to me once that you have to fight for what you want in this life, and after you get it you have to fight twice as hard to keep it. I'll never let you go again, Tod."

"I won't go again, darling," Tod said. "The last thing Ma said to me before she died was 'Make it up with Jenny.' She'd be pleased now if she could just know.

Jenny started the car. Her heart was singing as her thoughts leaped ahead to that moment when she and Tod should step across the threshold of the house on Riverdale Road once more. The twins, dressed in their best bibs and tuckers, were waiting there.

What a homecoming this was going to be!

Vote Tuesday On Schools Redistricting

the school or schools would be operated within a reorganized district. Senate bill 307 places no restrictition on the number or location of schools within a new district. It merely provides that there shall be one assessed valuation, one tax rate, and one school board to administer the school or schools of the disrtict. If circumstances warrant the operation of all existing schools within a new district and the residents of the district desire this, the board of directors could continue to operate all the schools. If school enrollments do not justify the operation of all the schools, or if qualified teachers are not available, the board may operate schools in those parts of the district where they are most needed and transport children living at some distance from the operating school.

Inquiries have been received about the tax rate which might be required of a new district. Here again the decision rests with the board of directors and people of the area. In order to qualify for state equalization aid, districts must levy the constitutional limit which the school board can impose. This is 65c in an elementary district and $1.00 in a high school district for teacher and incidental purposes. Any levy beyond these amounts must be approved by a 2/3 majority of the voters of a district. One effect of the reorganization of districts would be tolevel out or equalize inequities in valuations and tax rates. At present the valuation in rural districts range from low of approximately $90,000 to a high of over $760.000. Tax rates vary from 25c in a district where the school is closed and no state aid is granted to a high of $1.50 in an operating district with a low valuation.

A Yen To Elope Poisons Children

JACKSON, Miss., Oct. 29—(AP)—A 42-year-old man with a yen to elope today admitted poisoning his two granddaughters, one fatally, to collect insurance money.

Police Chief Joel Holden said the grandfather, Houston Roberts, signed a statement that he slipped poison capsules into medicine for Mary Louise Hill, 5, and Shirley Ann Hill, 4.

The police head said Mary Louse died last July and that Shirley Ann only recently was released from a hospital where reports showed arsenate of lead in the kidneys.

Accuses Woman Friend

Holden said the grandfather's statement accused Mrs. Ruby Pace, 43, of furnishing the poison in both instances.

Roberts is under arrest on charge of attempted murder in connection with Shirley Ann's illness.

Mrs. Pace was arrested yesterday on a similar charge, but denied any connection with the case. She was freed under $3,000 bond but was rearrested tonight for questioning, Holden said.

The middle aged man's statement, Holden continued, declared he poisoned Shirley Ann to collect part of $1,400 in insurance to finance an elopement with Mrs Pace.

Collected $640 Insurance

An $800 policy on Mary Louse, Holden continued, was settled for $640. The beneficiary was the child's mother and Robert's daughter, Mrs. Gladys Hill.

The police chief stated that Roberts admitted cashing the $630 check, giving Mrs. Hill only $30.

Dramatic Rescue From Well Pipe

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 29—(AP)—Three-year-old Bobby Gow went home from the hospital today sound and untroubled by his three-hour captivity in an eight-inch wide well pipe.

His doctor said it was unlikely Bobby would remember the terror of his imprisonment.

Bobby, tiny son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gow, slipped from sight into the abandoned well pipe 50 feet from his backdoor yesterday afternoon.

Johnny Schneider, 12-year-old neighbor, saw Bobby disappear, bounded into the house, told Gow and telephone the fire department.

That set in motion a dramatic rescue in which men throughout Austin dropped what they were doing to contribute to the life-saving effort. Police Lt. Otto Ludwig took a quick look down the pipe. His flashlight beam showed the top of Bobby's reddish-golden hair.

"He was screaming and crying. I radioed in for a tube of oxygen and 40 feet of hose. We had it flowing in front of his face less than 20 minutes after he fell in."

A power shovel began biting the earth to one side of the galvanized pipe. When it was down 18 feet fireman M. R. Miller cut a hole in the pipe with a cold chisel and metal snippers. The piece of pipe was laid aside, and a squirming, yelling, 26-pound youngster was lifted into the clear.

"Daddy," yelled Bobby.

Today there was nothing but fresh-turned earth behind the Gow home to recall Bobby's rescue. A bulldozer has pushed the dirt back in the hole, and buried the well.

Rotary Talk On Salesmanship

Tom W. Hill, Jr., executive director of Tom Hill & Associates, Kansas City, Missouri, will talk to the Rotary Club Monday on "Salesmanship and the Average Man."

Mr. Hill, a native Missourian, educated at Wentworth Military Academy, Park College, and the University of Missouri, was a field artillery officer in World War I and has since acquired a national reputation in the field of selling. Last fall he and his asosciates conducted a five week salesmanship course here in Sedalia sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce which was very well received.

Last May he addressed the Regional Economic Conference at the Contental Hotel in Kansas City, Missouri, on the influence the salesman has on the entire business world with suggestions and advise with reference to improvement. At the conclusion of the conference many of Mr. Hill's suggestions were accepted.

As an outcome of Mr. Hill's appearance at the Regional Economic Conference in Kansas City, he was asked to appear on the program of the National Economic Conference to be held at Washington, D. C. in early winter, which invitation he has accepted

Tom Hill and Associates are now in the process of organizing "Self-Improvement Schools" throughout the midwest, which are similar in nature to the "Salesmanship Course" conducted in Sedalia.

Kills One and Shot Another

BOI SEVAIN, Va., Oct. 29—(AP)—A tough deputy sheriff was shot four times but mustered strength to kill one suspected bandit and wound another in a bloody gun battle here today.

Shot a fifth time before he got the second man, Ed McGlothlin, the leathery, slightly built, 55-year old deputy was in critical condition tonight at a hospital.

The bandit pair are suspected of getting $450 last night in the holdup of a West Virginia state liquor store at nearby Anawalt, W. Va. Boissenvain is in the far southwest corner of Virginia. Anawalt is across the line in the southern tip of West Virginia.

There was a question about the identity of the gunmen.

The wounded man, his thigh fractured by one of McGlothin's bullets, told newsmen he was George McGuire, 50, of Jenkin Jones W. Va.

Officers said they were sure he is Monty Jones, who escaped about six weeks ago with his brother Roscoe from the West Virginia penitentiary at Moundsville.

The officers said they think the dead man is Roscoe. The brothers were serving burglary sentences.

Oppose Widow To Handle Estate

MANILA, Sunday, Oct. 30—(AP)—A Kansas City, Mo., railroad executive today opposed efforts of the filipino widow of his son, the late George C. Murray, to administer the murdered son's estate.

Through legal counsel here, Jerry Murray, father of the slain arms agent and surplus dealer, objected to Mrs. Murray's appointment. Her application now is before the court of the first instance here.

His counsel filed a protest declaring Mrs. Esther Rosario Murray's appointment as administrator would be "an act of wrong" in view of the murder charges pending against her in connection with Murray's death. Her trial will open Monday.

Murray was shot four times Aug. 13 as he slept in a bedroom of his suburban home. The government accuses Mrs. Murray of killing her husband in a fit of jealousy.

Optimist Week Be November 6-13

November 6 to 13 will be Optimist Week and the local Optimist club will join 50,000 Optimists in the annual observance primarily planned to aquaint the general public with the work of the Optimist club.

"Optimism and Responsibility" is the slogan of the club. In 1948 the Optimist called attention to the world that the kind of citizenship we will have 30 years hence will depend on he kind of job we do in building the leaders of tomorrow out of the boys of today. This year the Optimist call attention to the fact that we, all of us, are directly responsible for the growth and proper development of our youth.

Optimism is the pledge to a constantly expanding program of service to the community and the nation as a "Friend To The Boy." During the past few years that the Sedalia Optimist Club has been organized it has lived up to the pledge, its boys' work steadily growing with satisfying results both to the club and the community.

Rolla Miners Trounced Springfield Team 33-7

SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 29—(AP)—After being held scoreless the first period, the Rolla Miners broke loose for three touchdowns in the second quarter and went on to trounce the Springfield State Bears 33-7 today.

Dick Whitney and Dan Dowling each scored twice for Rolla and Gerald Wilson, guard, got the other by returning an intercepted pass 33 yards.

Springfield scored against Rolla reserves in the last three minutes of the game, with a nine-yard pass, Body Holden to Ray Forsythe, turning the trick.

The victory was the fourth straight for the Miners in M. A. A. play and leaves only Cape Girardeau in the way of a loop title.

Michigan Team Blasted Illini From Big 10 Lead

CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Oct. 29—(AP)—The inspirational fury boiling within Illinois on 'Bob Zuppke day suddenly escaped into nothingness with a fumble two yards shy of a touchdown and Michigan took the cue to blast the Illini out of the Big Ten football lead 13-0 today.

More than 71,000 fans, including 70-year-old Zuppke and 28 of his former Illini team captains, groaned in bitter disappointment when a fumble ended Illinois' only real scoring chance just a pace from the goal line.

Acquittal In Flogging Case

BIRMINGHAM, Ala., Oct. 29—(AP)—A self-identified ex-Klansman today was acquitted of masked flogging.

The jury's verdict freeing Coleman A. (Brownie) Lollar was greeted with loud applause by courtroom spectators.

Lollar, former special sheriff's deputy, was accused by the state of participating with other robed and masked men in the manhandling of Mrs. Hugh McDanal June 10.

The state said the band broke into Mrs. McDanal's home and forced her to watch a cross-burning.

Mrs. McDanal testified her attackers accused her of "selling whisky and renting rooms to couples."

Just before the jury retired for its brief deliberation—less than an hour—Solicitor Emmet Perry (prosecutor) urged a guilty verdict.

"Tell this man with a lash," demanded Perry, "that he is not above the law."

Immediately after the verdict was announced, Lollar was surrounded by friends who hugged him and pounded him on the shoulders.

Lollar was the first of 18 men to be tried on flogging and related charges. All were indicted after an outbreak of floggings and cross burnings, mostly in the hill country west of Birmingham

States After Cigarette Tax

By The Associated Press

Tax collectors in 38 states are on the hunt for new game—the fellow who buys out-of-state cigarettes by mail order to save paying his state tax.

They hope to flush some $20,000,000 in taxes out of his pockets next year.

The tax men got the go-ahead signal Oct. 19 when President Truman signed new cigarette tax legislation.

This law requires persons selling cigarettes in interstate commerce to furnish the tax administrators of each state where they have customers with a complete list of people—except regularly licensed distributors — receiving such goods during the previous month.

A nationwide survey by the Associated Press showed Saturday that most states plan vigorous tax enforcement. Some are going clear down to single carton level to sock buyers with bills for unpaid taxes and penalties.

There are eight states that have no cigarette taxes. The bulk of the mail order business is conducted from some of these states. They are California, Colorado, Maryland, Missouri, North Carolina, Oregon, Virginia and Wyoming.

Two other states—Illinois and Nevada—are prevented by their own state laws or court decisions from collecting from consumers a tax on cigarettes bought out of state. These states have a sellers rather than users tax, so their residents still can buy mail order cigarettes for their own use without paying a tax.

NLRB Holds Printers Guilty Of Violation

Set Up "Bargaining Strategy" To Impose Close Shop Condition

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—The National Labor Relations Board today unanimously held the AFL International Typographical Union guilty of violating the Taft-Hartley act.

The board said the big printers union had set up illegally a "bargaining strategy" which tried to impose closed shop conditions in the newspaper publishing industry.

The Taft-Hartley act bans the closed shop under which only union members can get jobs.

The board ordered both the ITU and its Chicago local No. 16 not to try to force "discrimination" against employees in violation of the act.

The board ruled in two cases—charges growing out of the 22-month Chicago newspaper strike which was settled last month; and charges filed by the American Newspaper Publishers Association on behalf of its 800 newspaper members.

The "bargaining strategy" which the board condemned was an attempt to impose "conditions of employment," under which ITU members would work without a contract.

Compel Closed Shop

The board called this an effort to compel employers to maintain closed shop conditions "by the use of a containuing threat to strike."

Actually the ITU and its top officers have been under a federal court injunction since March 27, 1948, forbidding them to engage in the bargaining practices which were alleged to be violations of the Taft-Hartley act.

A board official said the injunction will end when the board's decision is extended in the court, which will be done at once. The decree was handed down by District Judge L. M. Swygert at Indianapolis.

Gerhard P. Van Arkel, ITU general counsel, said the union has the right of appeal but the next step had not been determined.

ITU bargaining policies under condemnation had reached widespread proportions before the courts ruled them out.

The board also ordered the ITU in the ANPA case not to interfere with employers in selection of foremen. This action was by a four to one vote. The union had insisted that newspapers hire only foremen who are members of the union.

The board threw out unanimously a hard fought complaint that the ITU violated the Taft-Hartley law provision which bans "feather bedding." This is a term describing payment for services which are not to be performed.

Not Affect Present Practice

The board held that this section of the law did not pertain to practices in the newspaper printing industry.

At Indianapolis, Don Hurd, secretary-treasurer of the union, said "it is my opinion and the opinion of our attorneys in Washington that the decision will not affect the present practices of the ITU in contract negotiations."

The board's two decisions dealt with recommendations by NLRB trial examiner Arthur Leff in preliminary rulings he filed in August, 1948.

It affirmed all of Leff's rulings.

Leff had made three major findings against the ITU:

1. In the Chicago case, both ITU and the local violated the act by insisting upon closed shop conditions and by refusing to bargain in good faith.

2. In the ANPA case, the ITU was guilty of unfair labor practices by insisting on closed shop conditions.

3. In the ANPA case, it violated the law by insisting that foremen be members of the union.

Leff overruled a number of other complaints against the unions.

In its decision today, the board ordered the union to bargain in good faith if the Chicago Newspaper Publishers Association requested it—and to put any understanding reached into writing

Then by a vote of 3 to 2, the board made this order to bargain apply to the International Union as well as the Chicago local.

This had been a bitterly argued point.

Motion For New Trial In Will Contest Suit

CHILLICOTHE, Mo., Oct., 29—(AP)—A motion for a new trial in the contest of a $75,000 will has been filed in the Livingston county circuit court.

The case was initiated by Clarence C. Brand of Savannah, Mo., who received only $1 under the will of his father the late William M. Brand. He sued his uncle, John S. Brand, and other relatives, charging the will was not that of his father. A circuit court jury in the case, brought here on a change of venue, held for the defendants.

In the motion for a new trial Brand's attorney set forth 3 reasons. They included the claim that new evidence had been found, including a tombstone with the word "Father" on it, and a claim that the paper on which the will was drawn as not manufactured until after the purported date of signing.

Convicted Slayer Changes His Mind

MIAMI, Fla., Oct. 29—(AP)—Reed Leroy Hatton, 20-year-old convicted murdered, has changed his mind. He doesn't want to die.

"It scares me now when I think about it," he said.

The Youth who wrote Gov. Fuller Warren a letter Tuesday explaining why he wanted to die was quoted today as saying:

"I didn't know my mother was trying to help me. I haven't heard from her in weeks so I decided I was just a forgotten man and would be better off dead."

Hatton's family has been trying to get his death sentence commuted to life imprisonment.

Hatton was convicted of the Christmas Eve shooting of Willie Riley in Collier county in 1947. The two men had been drinking, trial testimony showed.

State Attorney General Richard Ervin is still studying the commutation appeal from Hatton's family. The death sentence already has been upheld by the Florida Supreme court.

Proposed School District 10

Proposed school district R-10 would be made up of the present districts of South Side, Prairie Grove, Pacific and Bunker Hill. This is a tier of districts in the southeast corner of Pettis County. The new proposed district, if accepted by a majority of the qualified voters, would be an elementary area.

District R-10 would have an assessed valuation of $872,341. Since the district has a total enrollment of only 34 elementary and 13 high school pupils, it would have the high valuation per child of $20,770. Most of the high school pupils of this area attend Cole Camp high school.

At the present time no school within this area receives state equalization aid, as the resident attendance at each separate school is very low. If the proposed district receives a favorable vote, the total attendance of the district will be used in computing state aid.

The assessed valuations of the separate districts range at present from a low of $134,590 to a high of $400,426. The district with the lowest valuation has the highest levy—85c, and te district with the highest valuation has a levy of only 40c. The other two districts each have a levy of 65c this year.

In addition to the four operating public schools in this area there is a parochial school at Bahner and one at Mora in Benton county, both of which enroll some elementary pupils from parts of this proposed district.

Voting in proposed district R-10 will be at South Side school on Tuesday, November 1st. Polls will be open from 6 a. m. to 7 p. m.

Four Widows Say Engel Married Them

But He Claims Only One Wife Who Is At His Side At Trial

CHICAGO, Oct. 29—(AP)—The first week of the criminal court production of "I Married an Engel" ended abruptly Friday after four widows testified Sigmund (Sam) Engel on a charge of running a confidence game was recessed until Monday after Prosecutor James A. Brown said his last witness, whom he did not identify, had not arrived from Minneapolis.

The wispy-haired, 74-year-old Engel then claimed his "only real wife," Mrs. Pauline Langton Engel, from the spectators' benches and led her away. He is at liberty under bond.

"No It's Buttercup"

"No, it's Buttercup," she cooed.

Engel told newsmen he will have 25 character witnesses when his defense opens next week. In addition, he says, Arthur will be there. Arthur is the twin brother Sam blames for all his troubles. The prosecution claims Arthur is a myth.

"Im going to produce Arthur. I said it, and that means it is affirmed."

The state alleges Engel reaped several thousand dollars by marrying, or proposing to marry, well-to-do widows and divorcees, then disappearing with their money, jewels or or other assets, some of which he made certain to liquidate in advance.

On the several widows who testified against him, Engel claimed, "I never saw them before in my life." One of them, he continued "looks like a bale of hay."

At the same time, Engel asserted the bilked widows were "gold diggers."

"The reason they gave me money is they thought I was a millionaire," he declared.

"You mean," a newsman asked, "that they thought they'd take your money before you took theirs?"

"You said it, kid," said Sam, grinning.

Then, to sort of round it out, Sam claimed Arthur really did all the things Sam is accused of, anyway.

Only Decent Woman

He described Mrs. Langton-Engel as "the only decent woman in the bunch," and added:

"Women admire a woman like her—or they will by the time my literature gets on the market."

He said he plans a corporation to publish "about 60 manuscripts, including my own works."

Red Cross Corner

What is the American Junior Red Cross?

The American Junior Red Cross is the junior membership of the American Red Cross and is the American Red Cross in the schools—public, private and parochial; elementary and secondary. As part of the organized humanitarian program of the Red Cross, it offers its members an opportunity to serve others, both at home and abroad, in peace and in war, through adaptable channels that are correlated with school activities. Thus it forms a link between the schools and the broadening circle of local, national and international society.

1. A real sense of sharing the humane work of the community and the nation through activities carefully integrated with the school curriculum.

2. An increased appreciation of the values of learning through the satisfaction derived from applying what has been learned to service for others.

3. A growing sense of responsibility toward others through working in partnership with adults on community service projects.

4. A broadening horizon of understanding through participation in national and international activities.

5. A satisfying as well as an educationally sound way to contribute to the establishment and maintenance of a just peace.

Junior Red Cross members pack gift boxes for children abroad, filling them with items such as wash cloths, soap, toothbrushes, pencils, pads, erasers and small toys. They make soft toys for shipment to children in war-devastated countries. As classroom groups, members prepare correspondence albums for exchange with groups abroad, and other sections of the United States. They learn First Aid, accident prevention, water safety, nutrition and Home Nursing. Boys and girls have an opportunity to learn essentials of leadership through Junior Red Cross school and chapter wide councils, and leadership training centers.

Junior Red Cross enrollment is November 1-15, and supplies for enrollment, with an overseas gift box, is being forwarded to all the schools.

The Junior First Aid training course will be held at Smith-Cotton Auditorium, Saturday, November 5, 9 a. m. The teacher and two or more of the upper class pupils in all the schools have been invited to attend.

Style Guide for today's woman

By Frances Nagaloff at Sage's

Corduroy is not being tossed aside, but will continue to be popular all winter and into the spring. Plaid corduroy is very good in skirts and before long aqua, rose and other pastels will join the parade of high shades.

Well-tailored skirts and matching weskits will be coming in most any day—long-sleeve white blouses with French Cuffs is just the thing to wear with them. With cooler weather, check your scarf wardrobe, they're very important. Big ones and little ones, wool or silk, you can't have enough. They're less expensive this year too, so stock up and remember they make wonderful gifts.

Diamonds are like people ... all different!

The reason that there is such a difference in diamond prices is easily explained when you realize how they differ in quality. That's why it is such a mistake to try to judge diamonds by their size and price. Missouri Edged Out Nebraska

Tigers Came From Behind With Two T.D. In Final Period To Win, 21-20

By Skipper Patrick

COLUMBIA, Mo., Oct. 29—(AP)—Lady luck refused to smile on a hepped-up Nebraska Cornhusker football team today as the sluggish Missouri Tigers came from behind with two touchdowns in the last quarter for a 21-20 Big Seven Conference victory.

A four-touchdown underdog Nebraska led 20-7 going into the final quarter and had just about convinced itself and a Missouri homecoming crowd of 29,000 that the Tigers were to become victim of a major upset.

Missouri, scoring its fourth successive victory, bounced back into the lead, only after End Fred Hulse had blocked a punt deep in Nebraska territory.

Seven minutes remained in the game, a rough but cleanly fought battle, when Hulse barrelled through to block Ronald Clark's fourth-down punt. Substitute tackle Dave Millican recovered for the Tigers on the Nebraska 14-yard line. Four plays later Halfback Dick Brasnell went the last yard for the touchdown.

Victory Point

Johnny Glorioso, 181-pound halfback from Kansas City who scored the first two Missouri touchdowns, kicked his third extra point for the victory.

With a little luck, Nebraska might have won the game. The Huskers spotted Missouri a touchdown, Glorioso's first, after twelve minutes of play then the Huskers pushed over two six-pointers in the second quarter. Quarterback Fran Nagle got both of them from the one-yard line.

Getting the jump on the Missouri line, Nebraska opened a gap in the left side of the Tigers' forewall midway of the third quarter and Halfback Bill Mueller rambled forty-nine yards to score. He was untouched.

Dick Yost, sophomore halfback, missed his second try for the point after touchdown and with it went Nebraska's opportunity of a tie game.

Upset In The Making

For Nebraska, it was the savage defense play for three quarters of the Huskerline, headed by Center Tom Novak, that had an upset in the making. Novak intercepted a Glorioso pass on the Missouri nineteen yard line to set up the second Nebraska touchdown. His deadly tackling took must of the steam out of the Tigers' early offensive efforts.

Nebraska gave Missouri a real opportunity to score seconds before the first half ended when the Cornhuskers elected to run a fourth-down play from their own four yard line, hoping to run out the time. Missouri held and with time for only one play Braznell failed on a pass into the end zone.

Missouri led in first downs 14 to 7. But Nebraska piscked up 183 yards rushing to 163.

Smith-Cotton Gridders Beat Jays 26 to 2

Tigers Won Their Sixth Straight Game of Season

The Smith-Cotton Tigers won their sixth straight victory of the 1949-gridiron season by overpowering the Jefferson City Jays 26 to 2 in a conference tilt in Jefferson City, Friday night, before a sizeable crowd of spectators, and among them were about 300 Sedalians.

The Tigers received the kickoff, and on their second play, the Jays recovered a fumble on the Tigers' 32-yard line. After the Jays failed to make a first down. the Tigers again took over in their own territory, and worked the ball to the Jays' 18-yard line, before making their first counter, when Gene Dowdy threw a forward pass to Donald Pummill, who was waiting for the ball in the end zone. Dale Whitfield's kick for the extra point was blocked.

Still in the first period, after the Tigers made two first downs, one on Dowdy's aerial to Myron Herrick, the pigskin was moved from their 40 to the Jay's 30-yard line. On the next play, Dale Ruffin counted on a 30-yard sweep on the left side to score. Again, Whitfield failed to convert.

Second Quarter

In the second quarter, the Jays began the march after receiving the kick-off. They moved from their 20 to the Tiger 20 when Jack Doyle connected with Bob Newberry's long throw. Then Newberry tried three unsuccessful passes, followed with a 10-yard run for another first down. The Jays finally gave up on the Tigers' 5-yard line. Dowdy fumbled the first play, and was tackled in the end zone by a Jay to give his team a safety, worth two points. The half time score was 12-2.

The Jays received the kickoff in the start of the second half, and turned the pigskin over to the Tigers on the Jay 20-yard line. Ruffin moved the ball to the 10 marker, and on the next play, tossed to Dowdy, who carried the ball over for the third Tiger score. Dale Whiefield converted.

Shortly after the start of the second half and through the remainder of the game, both teams fought savagely, thereby receiving numerous penalties, the Tigers getting the worst of it, having received about 80-yards in penalties compared to Jays' 30 during the latter half.

For awhile the Tigers were receiving so many penalties, that when the Jays finally were given the red flag for clipping, the official out of force of habit, walked the yardage off against Smith-Cotton, before realizing his error.

During the fury of penalties, fumbles and roughness, Dale Ruffin twice carried the ball over from the 30 and 37 yard lines, but the touchdowns were nullified, due to flags being dropped on the plays.

Final Score

With only a matter of seconds left remaining in the game. Dowdy tossed a 30-yard pass to Ruffin who took it on over for the final tally. Whitfield booted the extra point for the final score, 26 to 2.

The Tigers rolled 210 yards on the ground and gained 83 in passing. They incompleted four passes, and were penalized during the entire game, approximately 100 yards. The Jeff City Jays covered 87 yards on the ground and 60 in the air. They incompleted 9 passes, and received two 15-yard penalties.

Army Cadets Win Their Sixth Straight Victory

WEST POINT, N. Y., Oct. 29—(AP)—The powerful Army Cadets coasted to their sixth straight victory of the season today over a determined but outmanned Virginia Military Institute team, 40 to 14.

After the brilliant Arnold Galiffa had propelled the Army regulars to a safe 27-0 margin at half time, Coach Earl Blaik sent in all the players he could locate, including his son Bob, with the result that the red jerseyed visitors made quite a match of it in the last two quarters.

Irish Played 33rd Game Without Defeat

BALTIMORE, Md., Oct. 29—(AP)—Machine-like Notre Dame bopped Navy today, 40 to 0, handing the Middies the worst defeat in their football series that began in 1927. It was the 33rd game without defeat for the Irish who set a modern record.

Showing their gridiron wares to an eastern audience for the first time this season, the Fighting Irish broke the game wide open with a 20-point assault in the second quarter. They coasted from there on.

Sport Scraps

By D. KELLY SCRUTON

Everybody was over-confident about Missouri's changes with Nebraska Saturday—everybody but Coach Don Faurot. The team, the students, the alumni, and football fans in general thought that it was going to be a "push-over" for the M. U. Tigers—but not Don. He would have liked to have felt that way but he just couldn't, and his feelings were correct—well, the game spoke for itself, and the score was a scratch victory as far as Missouri was concerned.

Let's hope the game Saturday was—THAT GAME—and the players will now settle down and get back to business and play football.

I pulled myself away from the desk Saturday—not that I objected—just so I could see Missouri at its best. For three quarters and about five minutes of the fourth, I had decided I picked the worst game the Tigers would play and probably one which they were going to lose. In fact—not that I am an authority like some of the big-time sports writers—I think Nebraska had every right to have claimed the game as far as the first three quarters and first five minutes of the fourth were concerned.

The Huskers played the pants off the Missouri team during those quarters and five minutes, and Missouri looked about as bad as some high school team on the gridiron. BUT, my time was not entirely wasted—in the last ten minutes of the game I got to see just what Missouri's team was really made of and what type football they have been playing.

In those last few minutes I saw everything, I saw Missouri come from behind like a thoroughbred race horse, and take over the leading score—not that it was a big margin—but enough to say they had won.

Not that the Tigers will get to read this, but I hope if anybody should say anything to them, that they will listen more cautiously to Coach Don Faurot, get his feelings and then fight and go out and win, win over by all means, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, and Kansas State. Then get a BOWL bid.

My hero of the game was none other than Sedalia's own Fred Hulse, Jr., (papa don't burst your buttons) who barrelled through to block Ronald Clark's fourth-down punt. His neat blocking made it possible for Dave Millican to recover the ball on Nebraska's 14-yard stripe. Dick Braznell went across for the score and the kick was good. It was the winning score.

So Sedalia figured in the limelight again, with Hulse furnishing the light. His blocking and the recovery set up the necessary plays for Missouri to win.

After that play Coach Faurot should have a lot of faith in our Sedalia boys—and I am sure he does.

Incidentally Harold Mickens, also a former Smith-Cotton player got into the game, but nothing came around his way for him to show his powers. However he has done it in several games past.

The lesson should be a good one for the Smith-Cotton Tigers. Anything can happen when a team becomes over-confident. Both Missouri and the Smith-Cotton Tigers have been riding a high crest and it is only natural for a bunch of football players to get a little too over-confident at a time like that.

Saturday's game is an excellent example of over-confidence, so S-C Tigers if you have any feeling along those lines—get over it quick before November 11, when Missouri Military Academy shows up on the schedule.

You might think what Coach Dow is telling you is a "ghost story," but it isn't. He means business, he wants to see you Tigers continue the winning streak.

It was interesting to learn the past week that my friend Bill Corum, New York sports writer, fell heir to the presidency of the American Turf Association and also Churchill, a subsidiary. He succeeds the late Col. Matt Winn, the Daddy of the Kentucky Derby, and whose shoes are hard to fill.

Bill Corum is a former neighbor. He was born and reared at Boonville, Mo., and spent some of his boyhood days around Sedalia.

Pitt, Purdue, Tennessee Dealt Shocking Grid Upsets

By Harold Claasen

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—Pittsburgh, Purdue and Tennessee were rude guests today and dealt out shocking college football upsets to Pennsylvania, Minnesota and North Carolina.

Pitt, manhandled by a weak Indiana team last week, bounced Pennsylvania out of the ranks of the undefeated, 22 to 21, on a safety that was scored 38 seconds before the game ended. Bernie Barkouskie, Pitt guard blocked Ray Dooney's punt for the decisive two points.

Crushed Minnesota

Purdue crushed both Minnesota's Big Ten title and Rose Bowl hopes with a 13 to 7 victory. The Boilermakers found the vaunted Gopher line vulnerable to both passing and running attacks.

North Carolina was subdued by Tennessee, 35 to 6. Halfback Charlie Justice was injured in the fray but he contributed mental and physical errors before he was hurt that helped the Volunteers triumph.

At virtually all the other sites the football form held true.

Notre Dame, leader in the Associated Press' weekly poll, cruised easily past Navy, 40 to 0, with Ernie Zalejski the hero this time.

Oklahoma was held scoreless for a period before it settled down to destroy Iowa State 34 to 7, with five different Sooners scoring touchdowns.

Army had no difficulty at all with Virginia Military, 40 to 14, and Kentucky waited until almost the last minute to master little Cincinnati, 14 to 7. Southern Methodist just got by Texas, 7 to 6, with the convalescing Doak Walker kicking the deciding point.

Some Surprises

But there were some surprises. Fordham announced its return to the major ranks with a fourth straight victory, this one 42 to 0 over a good Georgetown aggregation. The Rams play equally unbeaten Army next Saturday.

Boston University continued its victory skein with a 46 to 6 conquest of Scranton.

Out in the midlands there was excitement galore. Iowa was trailing Oregon, 24 to 6, with only seconds to go in the third period. The Hawkeyes unleashed a scoring attack that brought them a 34 to 31 victory in the next nine minutes.

Michigan ruined an Illinois celebration honoring veteran Bob Zuppke, 13 to 0, and Ohio State sailed smoothly over Northwestern, 24 to 7. By their triumph the Buckeyes moved into a Big Ten tie with Iowa. Wisconsin bounced Indiana, 30 to 14.

Missouri

Missouri kept pace with Oklahoma for the Big Seven honors with a 21 to 20 verdict over Nebraska. The Huskers were ahead, 20 to 7, at the end of the third period.

Duke and Georgia Tech fought on almost even terms until Duke's Billy Cox found the passing range and then the Carolina eleven moved out in front, 27 to 14.

Tulane, showing little effect of its drubbing by Notre Dame, smashed Mississippi State, 54 to 6, with the last half of the game being played in the rain Other Southeast Conference tilts found Alabama downing Georgia, 14 to 7, and Vanderbilt besting Auburn, 26 to 7.

Baylor remained unbeaten by turning aside Texas Christian, 40 to 14, and Arkansas brushed past Texas A. and M., 27 to 6.

Fourth Ranked Team

California's Golden Bears, fourth ranked nationally, moved a step nearer the Rose Bowl by overpowering UCLA, one of their principal Pacific Coast rivals, 35-21.

By taking the Uclans, the unbeated-untied Bears virtually clinched the Pacific Coast championship.

In other west coast games, Southern California rallied with two touchdowns in the fourth period to beat an aroused Washington team, 40-28, and Santa Clara played a 7-7 tie with Stanford.

Sacred Heart basketball and volley ball teams will open their season, November 11, against the alumni team. Lincoln high school will appear in the second home game on November 22 to start out the regular Pettis county league games.

In Feature Event Wild Bill Longson Meets Coffield

Wednesday's Wrestling Matches In The Sedalia Armory

Feature Match—Will Bill Longson, 235 Salt Lake City, vs. Jimmy Coffield(227, Kansas City. Best two out of three falls, or a 90-minute time limit.

Semifinal Match—Babe Zaharies, 240, Colorado Springs, Colo., vs Big Mike Sharp, 265, Hamilton, Ontrario. Best two out of three falls, or a 45-minute time limit

Special Match — Cowboy Roy Graham, 240, Corsicana, Tex., vs. Johnny Swenski, 215, Linn, Mass. One fall, or 30-minute time limit.

Auspices of the American Legion. Matchmaker—Pearl Christy.

First match Wednesday starts at 8 30 p. m.

The biggest names in wrestling—Wild Bill Longson, Big Mike Sharp, Johnny Swenski and Cowboy Roy Graham—will see action in the Sedalia Armory Wednesday night. Matchmaker Pearl Christy has lined up the greatest wrestling card thus far this season and there is certain to be plenty of action in store for the fans.

Topping off the terrific all-star card will be the appearance of Wild Bill Longson, claimant to the world heavyweight title. Longson has been a headliner in St. Louis for several years, holding the record for drawing the most fans for a single match in that city. On one of his matches against Whipper Watson last year a record crowd of 11,200 turned out. Longson triumphed over Watson and has been drawing terrific houses ever since.

Burly Heavyweight

Now the burly Salt Lake City heavyweight comes to Sedalia to establish himself in the Central Missouri area He will square off against Jimmy Coffield in the feature match. Coffield has been gunning for a top contender spot and jumped at the chance to meet Longson.

Coffield is well aware that his future status in the heavyweight ranks depends on the outcome of his contest with Longson. Neither wrestler could afford a loss, so a rugged match can be expected.

Big Mike Sharp, the powerful 6-foot, 7-inch Canadian marvel, will return to action in the semi-final. Mike gained countless fans in this city two years ago and his return is expected to again meet with the popular approval of the Armory wrestling fans.

Changes Style of Attack

Big Mike has completely changed his style of attack. He has developed more new holds and has been running a long victory string along the eastern seaboard. His return to the midwest is aimed at a shot at Orville Brown's world title. However, Big Mike can expect plenty of trouble when he equares off against the veteran Babe Zaharias.

Zaharias has no intention of relinquishing his bid for recognition. The Colorado Greek is a cagey wrestler and he will extend Sharp to the limit.

Selector Won $36,850 For Owner Wm. Helis

NEW YORK, Oct. 29—(AP)—William Helis, who has poured millions into racing, gut back $36,500 of it today when Selector, a two-year-old son of Thumbs Up-Bell Came, won the 36th running of the East View stages, one of the Richard offerings for juveniles. before 29,194 fans at Jamaica.

Selector was purchased by the millionaire New Orleans oil man who maintains a lush breeding and training arm at Jobstown, N. J., for $20,000 at the dispersal sale of the Louis B. Mayer stables on the west coast last year.

Today's victory was his fifth in in 15 starts, but his first stakes triumph. Never worse than second, Selector, ridden by Arnold Kirkland, disposed of the pace setting Androcles from the Greentree Stable at the top of the stretch and then had more than enough to stave off a stretch run by Hal Price Healey's Lotowhite.

Selector was the strong favorite, returning a mutuel of $4.70, $3.00 and $2.50.

Farm Ponds Produce Pounds of Fish Food

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—A farm pond can produce more food than could be realized from beef on adjacent land, the Fish and Wild Service said today.

"Fish farmers can expect returns of 50 to 100 pounds of fish per acre in a natural pond, and up to 300 pounds in a well managed, fertilized pond," the agency said.

"Production of beef could come to about 150 pounds an acre."

The agency said that farm fish ponds are growing in importance, particularly in the south.

Texas farmers in recent years have built 200,000 fish ponds, Missourians have built 50,000 in 10 years, Mississippi 22,000 in five years, and Oklahoma is building 7,000 to 8,000 new ponds a year, it said.

Jayhawks Blanked Wildcats

Largest Crowd Ever To See Two Teams At Lawrence

LAWRENCE, Kas., Oct. 29—(AP)—University of Kansas, striking both by air and by land and making the most of the fumbles, shutout Kansas State, 38-0, here today for its first Big Seven Conference football victory of the season.

Before 33,500 fans—the largest number ever to see the two teams here—the Jayhawks got away to an early lead and then uncorked the works in the second half against their rapidly tiring enemy.

Coach J. V. Eikes' double-barrelled air-threat of Dick Gilman and Jerry Bogue worked smoothly along with some neat footwork by Bud French, John Amberg and Willie Modrcin. Two sophomore backs, Hi Faubian and Elmer Creviston, ran consistently for the Kansas State Wildcats who found defensive strength in Kenny Johnson.

Kansas made a 69-yard sustained march at the game's start, the touchdown coming on a short pass from Bogue to Lynn Smith.

Two passes by Gilman, one to Bill Schaake for 40 yars and the other to Forrest Griffith for 14, set up the Kansas touchdown in the second quarter. French scored it on a one-yard plunge.

Chance To Score

Kansas State's best chance to score came in the same quarter. Persistent running of Faubian and Creviston carried the Wildcats to within 15 yards of a touchdown. Then a bad pitch-out by Don Stehley caused Lyle Koontz to fumble and Charles O'Neal recovered.

Passes by Gilman and Bogue set up the Kansans up for their third touchdown. Bogue passed to Schaake for 12 yards after Dick Lomlinson had intercepted Jon O'Connor's pass on the Kansas 25-yard stripe. Forrest Griffith added 23 yards by ground and then Gilman passed 35 yards to French who went the other five yards for the touchdown. Johnny Amberg went off tackle, then cut back down the middle of the field for 28 yards and the fourth touchdown.

Another intercepted O'Connor pass started the Kansans goalward in the fourth period. Dean Wells picked up the pass on his 30-yard line. He raced 39 yards and was in the open when he fell. Wade Stinson helped out with eight yards, and a 15 yard personal penalty momentarily set the Kansans on the eight. A few plays later Henry Lamping went over for the touchdown.

Modrcin intercepted Don Stehley's pass on the Kansas State 34 as the crowd was beginning to leave. Two runs by him for 15 yards and 10 yards placed the Kansans within four yards of the touchdown. A person penalty set the Kansas back to the 13 from where Ken Morrow passed to Dale Mallon for the touchdown with only three minutes left.

Allot Money For Hospital Building

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29—(AP)—The recently revised hospital construction allotment law may give low-income areas in Oklahoma, Kansas and Missouri more opportunity to build hospitals, nurses homes or additions to them.

The public health service said today that under the newly amended law Oklahoma will have $3,683,879 (M) available for this fiscal year for use on approved projects, Kansas $2,044,104 (M) and Missouri $4,340,297 (M).

The former law required each state to set up its own agency, survey needs for hospitals, additions, alternations, equipment and nurses homes.

The government could pay up to one-third of the cost if the states put up two-thirds on projects approved by the surgeon general.

Now, the health service said, the federal government can pay up to two-thirds which would aid low income areas.

It's Tops—from the bottom up!

Fact to remember: When you look at a car, any car, you only see about 40% of what you're paying for.

That's why—when experienced buyers come in to look at a Packard—we often invite them to take a "road's-eye view." We like to show and describe hidden values such as these:

Double-solid-panel body construction—over a frame that looks husky enough to be a battleship's backbone!

Special alloys that make the engine almost "wear-proof." Fact: In high-speed, 25,000-mile endurance runs, Packard cylinder wear is less than the thickness of this newspaper page!

Extra ball and roller bearings—more than you'll find in any other car in Packard's price class. Like the jewels in a fine watch, these costly bearings guard vital parts against wear.

The list goes on and on, and on—and it covers all the big reasons for Packard's superior safety and comfort . . . and Packard's amazing economy.

And how consistent has Packard quality been—in the hidden features, as well as the on-the-surface features? Answers: Of all the Packards built—in the last 50 years—over 50% are still in service!

Phil Burford In Accident

Car Practically Demolished Near Lone Jack, Mo.

Phil R. Burford, 1006 South Grand avenue, narrowly escaped death Friday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock, when his car was hit three miles east of Lone Jack, and practically demolished.

According to Mr. Burford he was driving a new Chevrolet west on Highway 50 en route to Kansas City on business. There was a truck behind him and a car in front of him as they approached a hill, all going at a moderate rate of speed, Mr. Burford said, when suddenly a 1948 Buick Roadmaster, driven by Ira A. Bixby, of Holden was in a sideswipe with his car. Mr. Burford said that his car was hit on the side at the back door, and according to a man from Warrensburg, who observed the accident, "must have gone about 15 feet in the air." The car, Mr. Burford said, then rolled about 130 feet, turning over several ties, the last time coming down on a fence post which went through the gasoline tank of the car.

Head Through Glass

Mr. Burford stated that his head went through the glass on the side of the car but his hat kept him from being cut. His head, however, was bruised and x-rays taken at the Bothwell hospital Saturday revealed that a verterbrae was out of place. Highway patrolmen at the accident were Troopers R. G. Place and C. W. Keith, of Lee's Summit.

The car driven by Bixby was owned by McVeigh and Co., Inc., Feed Store company, of Holden. Bixby, Burford said, after the accident turned around and came back to the scene.

When he realized something had hit him, Mr. Burford said, he braced himself as best he could with one foot on the pedal and one foot on the brake and held on with all his strength to the steering wheel. The patrolmen told him, he said, that holding on as he did saved him from more serious injuries. The Burford car was brought in to the Thompson Chevrolet garage here.

Be Mehornay Manager Here

Milton L. Barnes has been promoted to manager of the Mehornay furniture store in Sedalia. Mr. Barnes comes to Sedalia from the Mehornay store in Columbia where he served as assistant manager for three years. Prior to that time he was in merchandising with the Firestone company.

M. L. Barnes

Mr. Barnes is a World War II veteran, having served as staff sergeant with the 128th Field Artillery. Born in Jefferson City, he attended high school in Columbia and is a graduate of Missouri university. He is married, is a member of the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars and Royal Arch Masons.

Statements On Taxes Soon

New Method To Avoid Standing In Line For Paying

Miss Hazel Palmer, Pettis county collector, said although taxes are not due and payable until November 1, 1949, all tax receipts are in her file and ready for payment any time the taxpayer feels like coming in and paying them.

Mrs. Henry W. Heitman has been acting as an extra deputy and will continue through the tax season with the collector's office. Miss Palmer has also had other extra help, and it is hoped that the tax statements will be in the mail in the early part of November, instead of near the limit of December 15, as the law provides.

A recent act of the legislature has made it possible for statements to be mailed to the address of the taxpayer as shown on the tax books. It is believed that these statements will be a great convenience to the taxpayer. Many have sold their property or have purchased property and they may or may not be responsible for paying the 1949 tax on the property they purchase, but which is carried in the former owner's name, and the statements will give each type of owner an opportunity to adjust their own tax payment agreements. Also the statements will remove the necessity of the person standing in line at the tax window on the second floor of the court house.

About 15,000 Be Mailed

Taxpayers can mail the statement with a check or money order, and their receipts will be mailed to them. All taxpayers who have loans on their property will probably not receive a statement for tax on the property covered by the loan since almost all loan agencies request this information for their own use, due to the fact that they take care of the taxes on their loans. For this reason, in the past many taxpayers have overlooked paying taxes on their personal property and any other property they may have owned.

When these statements are received by the taxpayer, they will reveal whether or not the taxpayer has any unpaid real or personal property tax carried in his name, or if real estate, it will be shown anyway.

Miss Palmer said that approximately 15,000 statements will be mailed to Pettis county taxpayers from her office this year.

Auto Collision Injures Four

W. R. Wasson and Little Son In The Bothwell Hospital

Four persons, involved in one of three automobile collisions that occurred in Sedalia, Saturday received injuries. William R. Wasson and his 14-month old son, Richard Dean Wasosn, 619 East Boonville are patients at the Bothwell hospital. The son received lacerations of the right side of his head and a broken left leg. The father was admitted to the hospital for an injured right kidney. Mrs. Wasson, who was also riding in the car, received abrasions of the right side of her head, cement burns about the head and face and lacerations about the right knee and lower part of her right leg. She was not admitted to the hospital. All three were treated by Dr. C. D. Osborne.

Betty Lou Case, 14, a passenger in another car which collided with the Wasson automobile, received a chest injury. The collision occurred Saturday afternoon about 12:10 o'clock at Fourth street and Montgomery avenue, when a 1935 Oldsmobile sedan, driven by William Wasson was in collision with a 1940 Plymouth coupe, driven by Art Case, Clinton. The right side of the Oldsmobile was damaged, and the Plymouth was badly wrecked practically all over.

Both drivers posted bonds at the police station, for their appearance in police court, Monday morning.

At 11:10 o'clock, Saturday morning, three trucks, all being driven west on Broadway in the 900 block, collided when the first truck line stopped. According to the police accident report, the drivers, T. M. Moriarty, Thirty-eighth street and Ingram avenue: Kenneth Austen, 1117 East Broadway and F. S. Henderson, 1101 East Eleventh street, posted bonds for their appearance in police court Monday, in an endeavor to settle damages that were encountered.

Saturday night, at 7:17 o'clock a 1941 Plymouth sedan, driven by R. E. Rodger, 916 South Ohio avenue, which was being driven east, turned over at Seventh street and Lamine avenue, when in collision with a 1938 Packard ambulance, owned by the Gillespie funeral home, and driven by Frank Coffman, Jr., 1806 South Sneed avenue.

Drivers and passengers in both vehicles escaped injuries. The Plymouth was badly wrecked. The ambulance was damaged in the front end.

K. C. Jury Cites Two Witnesses For Contempt

Both Are Ordered By Judge Duncan To Appear Nov. 7

KANSAS CITY, Oct. 29—(AP)—A federal grand jury, investigating gambling, Friday night cited two witnesses for contempt.

The jury charged that Max Ducov and his brother-in-law, Nathan L. Bassin, had given "obstructive, evasive, perjurious and contumcious answers to questions propounded before the grand jury."

Federal District Judge Richard M. Duncan ordered the two men to appear Nov. 7 to show cause why they should not be imprisoned for civil contempt.

Ducov, a beer salesman, and Bassin, a beer distributor, first were questioned by the grand jury Oct. 18. Both have been questioned every day this week.

Gave Evasive Answers

The jury took Bassin before Judge Duncan last Saturday and told the judge the witness was giving evasive answers. The judge warned Bassin then that he must answer questions truthfully.

The jury, in a six-page document, listed specific questions which Bassin and Ducov allegedly failed to answer about their dealings concerning the sale of a tavern to Bassin.

Bassin, former bank employe whose income was not large, testified that in 1945 he paid $5,500 for a half share in the tavern Later he paid $5,500 for his partner's share.

He testified he got the money from a trunk in his attic and a paper box in his bedroom closet to make the deals. His total accumulation in the hiding places was $7,500, he said. He told the jury he could not remember discussing this money with his wife.

Last January Bassin bought the Duke Sales Company a wholesale beer agency, from Ducov. He said he paid $2,500 in cash for the agency and took over $45,000 in liabilities and $75,000 in assets.

Bought Beer Agency

The jury alleged that Bassin refused to tell truthfully where he got the $7,500 or to tell the true arrangement he had with Ducov in buying the beer agency.

Both men stood silent in court when Judge Duncan read part of the jury's allegations.

More than 100 witnesses waited to appear before the grand jury today while the members were questioning the two men.

Ducov, the grand jury charged, refused to disclose what he did with $43,000 allegedly obtained from the Duke company, or the details about the sale of the agency.

MANHUNT COMES TO END—Police search the body of Gus Tompkins, 43, after an intensive manhunt over a large area of Wichita, Kas. Tompkins, suspected of arson, shot himself through his right temple as the officers closed in after he had critically wounded Otis Turner, deputy state fire marshal, who was following the fugitive in an auto. Wants Authority To Pay Back Int.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 29—(AP)—The Missouri Pacific trustee asked Friday for court authority to pay $12,961,245 in back interest to first mortgage bondholders of the railroad and several of its subsidiaries.

Federal District Judge George H. Moore set a hearing on the petition for Nov. 9. Guy A. Thompson, the trustee, told the court the payments would be in best interests of the railroads, which are now in the process of reorganization.

The back payments would include:

To holders of Missouri Pacific first and refunding mortgage bonds, series A, F,G, H and I, covering the year 1941, $11,159,525.

To holders of International-Great Northern first mortage bonds, covering the year 1941, $1,610,000.

To holders of Cairo and Thebes railroad first mortgage bonds, $135,920.

To holders of Central Branch, Union Pacific, first mortgage bonds, $55,800.

Boy Falls In Well Shaft and Rescued Alive

Son Of Austin Tex., Printer Imprisoned In Well Three Hours

AUSTIN, Tex., Oct. 29—(AP)—A three year old boy fell 14 feet down a narrow shaft of an abandoned well Friday and was rescued alive three hours later.

Bobby Gow, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gow of Austin, toppled into the 10-inch shaft about 2:48 p. m. while playing. A 12-year-old playmate saw him fall and spread the alarm.

His rescue came at 5:42 p. m. after three steam shovels, compressed air hammers, and volunteer pick and shovel workers tore away the earth from the 20-foot hole.

Cut Hole In Pipe

A fireman and a gas company employe pulled the lad from a hole cut into the side of the metal pipe that had held him captive. A crowd of about 2,000 persons was held back by police ropes. They cheered and clapped their hands as they caught sight of the tiny boy. He was immediately placed on a stretcher and rushed to a hospital, accompanied by his mother and a physician.

Bobby's sister, Peggy, 12, excitedly told how her brother had fallen:

"Mother sent me out to get him and I saw his head go down the hole"

Oxygen Line Into Shaft

An oxygen line had been run into the well shaft soon after Bobby's head was sighted. Then rescuers succeeded in looping a rope about his arm. They were afraid to try pulling him out, believing they might injure him or the rope might slip off.

Neighbors went to work with picks and shovels before firemen and police arrived.

Deputy Fire Marshal Condition Improved

WICHITA, Kas., Oct. 29—(AP)—A deputy state fire marshal's daughter said Friday he is "improving from face and arm wounds inflicted Thursday by a Negro he sought to question.

It still is too early to learn whether her father's eyesight was affected, said Miss Roberta Turner—a registered nurse aiding in his care.

She said it is feared that shotgun pellets may have penetrated her father's eyes, "but the swelling hasn't gone down yet so we can tell whether they are where they will do harm."

Otis Turner, 42, was wounded at close range by two blasts of a .12 gauge shotgun fired, police said, by Gus Tompkins, 43.

In another hospital, Tompkins was reported "still in critical condition" from head wounds. Police said Topkins shot himself when officers cornered him after he wounded Turner.

There's B-36 Battle in Texas, Too, As AF Fights Training Headaches

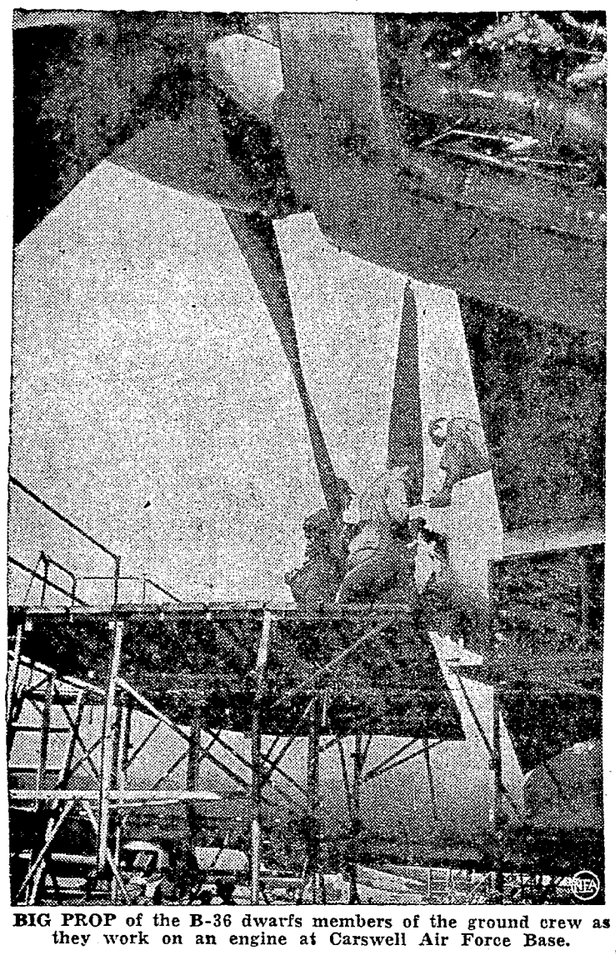
Pictures and Text
By HAROLD GULLY
NEA Staff Correspondent

FORT WORTH, Tex.—(NEA)—The big and controversial B-26 bombers roar into the air every day from the runways at Carswell Air Force Base, untouched by the turbulent battle of the B-36 in Washington.

The battle at Carswell is not between Navy and Air Force, but against problems that have kept the B-36 training program from moving as fast as the Strategic Air Command would like it to move.

Men and materials are the headaches of the 8th Air Force, which took over the B-36 program on a field originally built for the medium-sized B-25.

Nearly everything starts from scratch.



BIG PROP of the B-36 dwarfs members of the ground crew as they work on an engine at Carswell Air Force Base.

Pilots are given transition checkouts on the big bomber, and they in turn check out other pilots assigned to B-36 training. Bombardiers and navigators have to have special training for the plane's unique equipment. Even veteran gunners have to start all over, because the guns of the B-36 are different and more complicated than any used during the war.

As a further complication, the B-36 is not being produced fast enough to provide sufficient planes for constant training of 8th Air Force crews assigned to them.

Of the two bomb groups at Carswell, one is at full strength, which means 30 planes under Strategic Air Command recommendations. The other is not at full strength, either in men or material. Some of its planes are at Rapid City, S. D., however, where a mobile training unit is being conducted for line crewmen and mechanics.

BIG BOMBER takes a lot of crew—and a lot of training. Here the crew of one B-36 lines up under the wing with each man's equipment spread out for the pilot to check.

From the start, the 8th Air Force has been plagued with shortages of heavy equipment necessary for the maintenance of the B-36, which is one reason many of the plants stay on the ground after a minimum number of flight hours.

B-36 engines are so big a new "build-up" assembly line had to be developed so they could be worked on vertically. Engines arrive at the field without any fittings except cylinders and shaft; the mount, exhaust stacks, blowers and other equipment is added by mechanics at the base. A "merry-go-round" assembly line, built at Carswell, now cuts the time for "build-up on the 18-foot engines in half.

At present, there are no "mockups" to aid fledgling B-36 crew members in their classroom work. During the war, such aids speeded training on the ground by showing crews how parts of the plane worked. But a "mockup" of the B-36 would cost close to a million dollars, and that isn't in the training budget just now.

Carswell's trainees will have to be content with a crashed B-36, which will be utilized as far as possible, as a "mockup." First they'll have to wait until the air inspectors get through their investigation of the crash.

When the 8th Air Force does get all the B-36s it hopes to have, there'll be still another headache. The field, built for B-25s, later was a B-24 transition base and after the war housed B-29s. Even without a full complement of planes for its two B-36 groups, it's tough to find room to park the new bomber on Carswell's ramps.

Crossroads Comment

by G. H. S.

Forty years ago there appeared on the front page of the Sedalia Democrat, a cartoon showing balloons of baskets of lamb, pork, beef, fowl and embalmed meats rising into the air while Mr. Consumer watched with a telescope from below, "Going Up" was the caption.

There were only two grocery advertisements in the paper that week, small ones, Hicks the Grocer and Menefee's all advertising staple goods, including Hick's imported swiss cheese at 40 cents per pound and Menefee's lump coal at $3.50 per ton.

Other regular advertisers forty years ago included: St. Louis Clothing Company, Flower-Barnett, McLaughlin Bros., Quinn Bros. Shoe Store, Third National Bank, Queen City Electric Company, Stanley Coal Co., Dorn-Cloney Laundry, Sedalia Trust Co., Landman Abstract & Title Co., Archias Seed Store, Bell Telephone Co., Peter Hoffman Hardware, W. E. Bard Drug Co., Missouri Pacific and M. K. & T. railroads.

These advertisers are still active which indicates there must be something to the old slogan: "It Pays to Advertise,"

—o—

"Well, honey, you don't make pies like mother used to make."

"Well, dear, you don't make the dough like father used to make."

—o—

Some husbands, however, do make more dough today than their father-in-laws used to. However more dough is needed today than it was years ago.

—o—

Of all known diseases suffered by mankind, approximately 80 per cent gain entrance to the body through the mouth. Presumably the other 20 per cent are expelled by the mouth in the form of gossip and slander.

—o—

That Admiral Louis E. Denfeld should be fired from his post as the nation's top admiral by President Truman may be necessary from the standpoint of the armed services unification program. Such matters are determined by the big-wigs. It gets around to the point of military ethics and who's boss—the private or the captain. In this case it's the admiral or the commander-in-chief, Mr. Truman. So the admiral is fired.

Regardless of current developments, the Admiral is a top man, both by naval service and by personality. A year ago this month I had the pleasure of sitting beside Admiral Denfeld at an Inland Daily Press Association luncheon when he was guest speaker. He was billed as a 40-year veteran of submarine, destroyer, battleship and shore service; combat commander of a battleship division which supported the Okinawa landings and bombarded the Japanese home lands, and commander in chief of the Pacific fleet in 1947.

This impressive background hadn't put the admiral's nose in the air like it does some brass. He radiated geniality and down to earth conversational exchange that to a smalltown newspaper man made him a truly likable personality.

So I have a personal regret in learning of the admiral's current difficulties on the Washington scene, though he doesn't seem like one crying in his beer over the matter. Says Admiral Denfeld:

"For thirty-one years I've been sticking by my guns and if they want to kick me out, I'm still sticking by my guns."

The admiral may be mild-mannered at a speaker's table but I imagine he can be tough on occasion. We'll probably hear more about him in the years to come.

—o—

Absence makes the heart grow fonder—even of locomotive whistles.

Sedalians who previously expressed irritation over the shrill whistles of Missouri Pacific trains passing in the night, have just about concluded it is better to have the whistles than no trains at all and no one working at the Missouri Pacific shops.

For 46 days before the trainmen's strike ended Sedalians themselves were doing some whistling in the dark as shop payrolls diminished and business started dropping off.

There is more comfort in a whistle's shrillness than anyone ever believed before.

—o—

Aside from Sedalians' elation over the end of the strike there is none greater than that of Jimmy Kirkpatrick, public relations director for Governor Forrest Smith.

Jimmy declares with a modicum of modesty spiced with fealty that Governor Smith played no small part in paving the way for the end of the strike impasse by spark-plugging the governor's conference suggesting ways and means for the dissenting parties to settle their difficulties. Jim: "Why the management and trainmen weren't even speaking to each other until after the conference," says Jim. "And they settled their differences on the suggestions made by Governor Smith."

—o—

To the giver and to the recipient, courtesy is not only painless but exhiliratng. Lack of it under any circumstances is not only inhuman but disagreeable. Genuine courtesy cannot be bought or sold, it is as free as the air we breath. In our daily lives let's breath more of it, in and out.

Major Steel Companies Are Divided Over Type of Pensions

by Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON,—Here are some of the things that are taking place backstage in the steel strike discussions:

1. Inside the steel companies: The major companies are divided regarding the contributory or noncontributory pension plan. Inland Steel already has a good pension plan, while Jones and Laughlin, together with Bethlehem, favor a pension plan whereby labor does not contribute; for the following reasons:

Only 10 per cent of the workers continue in their employ until they reach the age of 65. When they leave before that age under a worker-contribution plan, they take their contributions with them, which entails complicated bookkeeping. But when they do not contribute, the amount set aside for them by the company stays in the fund and mounts up. Thus the company, over the years contributes less and less money.

Flatly opposed to Bethlehem, Jones and Laughlin, and Inland is the giant of the industry, U. S. Steel, which sets the competitive pace. Despite all arguments, U. S. Steel has held out against a company-contributed pension plan—chiefly as a matter of principle. It claims that labor should not get something for nothing, that labor should contribute at least a small part of the pension.

Possibly this view is influenced by the fact that directors of U. S. Steel include heads of other companies—Walter Gifford, of American Tel and Tel; Sewell Avery, of Montgomery Ward and U. S. Gypsum; James Black, of Pacific Gas and Electric—which might be affected by any pension precedent set for the steel industry.

2. Inside the White House—presidential advisers have discussed with Truman the idea of invoking the Taft-Hartley act, but he is opposed for this reason:

The United Steel workers already have suspended a strike for 77 days at his request—practically the equivalent to the 80-day suspension possible under the Taft-Hartley act. If the president now invoked the T-H act, it is feared labor might refuse to obey the injunction. And if half a million men refused to obey their government, the nation would face not only a breakdown of Democracy, but reverberating ammunition would be handed to Moscow for use in every country in the world.

Furthermore, the president's fact-finding board's recommendations have been accepted by the union, though rejected by management. That is why other White House friends, including Mayor David Lawrence of Pittsburgh, Jack Arvey of Chicago and Chairman Boyle of the Democrat National committee have been urging Truman to put the bee squarely on the steel companies.

Note 1—Phil Murray, testifying before the president's fact-finding board, invited the steel executives to appear before Congress with him and urge passage of a better old-age-pension bill. They refused. Despite this, if Congress had remained in session and tackled the entire problem of old-age pensions for all old people, not merely those who belong to unions, a pattern might have been worked out for the nation.

Note 2—Thought U. S. Steel refused to go for noncontributory pensions now, it was the same U. S. Steel company which gave a noncontributory welfare fund to John L. Lewis and the coal miners in 1947. This precedent given to Lewis sets a goal which Phil Murray and other union leaders now have to equal.

Pentagon Merry-Go-Round

Ironic twist of fate: The Navy is now bitter at Adm. Louis Denfeld even though he went all-out for them before Congress. Other admirals felt his blast was too late, that he had played footsie with the Army and Air Force in the privacy of the joint chiefs of staff. . . . Navy lobbyist pulled wires to get Adm. William H. Blandy appointed in Denfeld's shoes as chief of Naval operations. . . . Adm. Forest Sherman isn't popular with his co-admirals. They figure he was the first to drill a hole in the dike that led to unificaton. What happened was that Sherman was appointed by Secretary Forrestal to sit down with Gen. Lauris Norstad of the Air Force and work out unification. Result was the milk-and-water unification bill of 1947, now considerably strengthened. Brother admirals never forgave Sherman for this. . . . Admiral Sherman was top war planner on Admiral Nimitz's staff in the Pacific, is a brilliant strategist, fought for airplane carriers when other admirals were still fighting for battleships. . . . While the Navy's friends in Congress are pleading for peace, the Navy is still waging an undercover campaign against usually gentle Gen. Omar Bradley. They enlisted the powerful voice of Walter Winchell, long-time Naval Reserve officer, in a campaign against Bradley. Winchell did his best for the Navy during the war, got kicked around for his pains, but is still loyal. . . . Also it was considered no accident that Congressman John McCormack of Boston unloosed an out-of-the-blue blast at General Bradley. The Boston Navy yard is about to feel the effect of Secretary Johnson's economy move, and some of McCormack's constituents will lose their jobs.

Under the Dome

Michigan's Congressman Lesinski, the Detroit Democrat who staged a sitdown strike against the aid-to-education bill, is already in for re-election trouble. Walter McNary, a Wyandotte, Mich., shoe retailer, will run against him in the primary. McNary stands strong with labor. . . . Despite the need for economy and the full coverage given the armed services row by the press associations, the Navy insisted on sending small newspapers voluminous verbatim transcripts of every word the admirals said about the Air Force. . . . Yet the Public Relations Offices of Army, Navy and Air Forces are supposed to be consolidated. . . Newsman Burnet Hershey has been studying Truman's health, comes up with the inside story of how he keeps fit—in Look magazine this week. . . . There is an ironic twist in the New York Senate race between John Foster Dulles and ex-governor Herbert Lehman. What most people don't know is that Dulles' law firm, Sullivan and Cromwell, have been the lawyers for Lehman Brothers for many years. Usually, the lawyer helps his client. . . . Tito will pay off the United States for helping Yugoslavia win a seat on the Security Council—by a Yugoslav peace treaty with the royalist Greek government.

Music Modes

THE Sedalia Symphony orchestra's first concert of the season, last Monday night, contained Victor Herbert's selections from "Naughty Marietta," and was well received by the audience. However, few people know how America obtained Mr. Herbert, one of the leading light opera composers of all time.

The maternal grandson of Samuel Lover, Irish painter, composer and author, young Herbert was seven when he left his native Dublin and crossed the channel to Germany, where he was to study to become a doctor of medicine. By the time he reached the age of fifteen his vocational ideas began to change, however, and he decided to become a musician.

He selected the violoncello as his instrument and studied with the best instructors in Europe. After he attained considerable skill he was featured as a guest artist with many groups in Europe and was the first cellist of the Royal court orchestra, while in Stuttgart studying composition.

Between the trying efforts of writing canons and fugues, young Herbert managed to find time to fall in love with Therese Forster, a young, attractive opera singer. Their music likes and dislikes being about the same, they courted for some time and were planning to be married when a scout for the Metropolitan Opera company appeared on the scene and offered Miss Forster a contract After much deliberation she accepted the terms of the contract on the condition her husband-to-be also be employed on his ability as a cellist.

The two lovers were married and in 1866 came to New York. Therese made a fair debut but was soon to be forgotten and more content to be the wife of one of America's fast rising, young composers and conductors.

During his employment with the Metropolitan orchestra, he was much sought after as a guest soloist with other groups. After leaving the Met orchestra he led and directed several large organizations including the famous 22nd Regiment band and the Pittsburgh Symphony orchestra. In 1904 he organized his own orchestra and was active with this company on Sunday night concerts for more than twenty years.

During his lifetime he wrote more than forty operettas and two grand operas. The "Natoma" was one of the few attempts to produce American grand opera; with American scenes and American history as its inspiration.

Songs from his operettas include such zinging numbers as "The Italian Street Song" to the flowing and romantic, "I'm Falling in Love With Someone."

According to the publicity department of the Sedalia Men's Choral club, Victor Herbert compositions occupy an important place in the club's book and are surely to be scheduled in the group's forthcoming Sedalia concert.

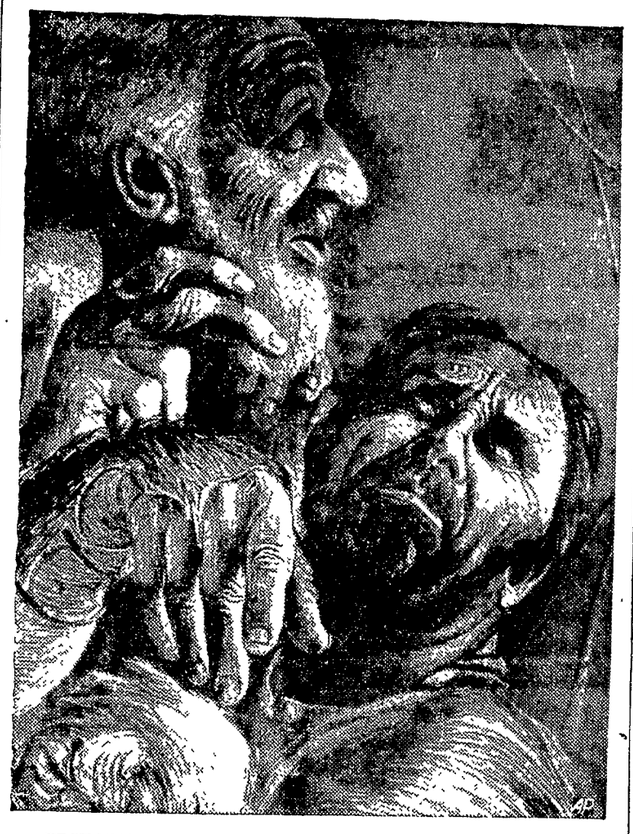
The Bible Story

JACOB



EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the fifth in a series of studies from the Old Testament. The text is condensed from selections by Houston Harte for the new book "In Our Image." Illustration by Guy Rowe is also from the book.

When Isaac was old, and his eyes were dim, so that he could not see, he called Esau his eldest son, and said, My son: I know not the day of my death: Now therefore take, I pray thee, thy weapons, and go out to the field, and take me some venison and make me savoury meat, such as I love, and bring it to me, that I may eat; that my soul may bless thee before I die. And Rebekah heard when Isaac spoke to Esau. And Esau went to the field to hunt for venison.

And Rebekah spake unto Jacob her son, saying, Behold, I heard thy father speak unto Esau thy brother saying, Bring me venison, and make me savoury meat, that I may eat, and bless thee. Now therefore, my son, obey my voice. Go to the flock, and fetch me two good kinds of goats; and I will make savoury meat for thy father, that he may eat, and bless thee. And Jacob said, Behold, Esau is a hairy man, and I am smooth: My father will feel me, and I shall seem to him as a deceiver; and I shall bring a curse upon me, and not a blessing. And his mother said unto him, Upon me be thy curse, my son: only obey my voice. And he went, and fetched, and brought them to his mother: and his mother made savoury meat, such as father loved. And Rebekah took goodly raiment of her eldest son Esau, and put them upon Jacob: And she put the skins of the kids of the goats upon his hands, and upon the smooth of his neck: and she gave the savoury meat and the bread, into the hand of Jacob.

And he came unto his father, and said, My father: and he said, Here am I; who art thou, my son? And Jacob said, I am Esau thy first born; arise I pray thee, sit and eat of my venison, that thy soul may bless me. And Isaac said unto Jacob, Come near me, I pray thee, that I may feel thee, my son, whether thou be Esau or not. And Jacob went near unto Isaac; and he felt him, and said, Try voice is Jacob's voice, but the hands are the hands of Esau. And he discerned him not. And he said, Bring it near me, and I will eat of my son's venison, that my soul may bless thee. And his father Isaac said unto him, Come near now, and kiss me, my son. And he smelled his raiment, and blessed him, and said, See, the smell of my son is as the smell of a field which the Lord hath blessed: Therefore God give thee of the dew of heaven, and the fatness of the earth, and plenty of corn and wine: Let people serve thee, and nations bow down to thee; be lord over thy brethern, and let thy mother's sons bow down to thee: cursed be every one that curseth thee, and blessed be he that blesseth thee.

And it came to pass, as Jacob was yet scarce gone out from the presence of Isaac, that Esau came in from his hunting. And he said, Let my father arise, and eat of his son's venison, that thy soul may bless me. And Isaac said, Who art thou? And he said, I am thy son, thy first born Esau. And Isaac trembled and said, Who? where is he that hath taken venison, and brought it me, and I have eaten and have blessed him? yea, and he shall be blessed. And when Esau heard the words of his father, he cried with a great and exceeding bitter cry, and said, Bless me, even me also, O my father. And Isaac answered and said unto Esau, Behold, I have made him thy lord, and all his brethren have I given to him for servants; and with corn and wine have I sustained him: and what shall I do now unto thee, my son? And Esau said, Hast thou but one blessing, my father? bless me, even me also, O my father. And Esau lifted up his voice and wept. And Isaac answered and said unto him, Behold, thy dwelling shall be the fatness of the earth, and of the dew of heaven from above; and by thy sword thou shalt live, and shalt serve thy brother; and it shall come to pass when thou shalt have the dominion, that thou shalt break his yoke from off thy neck.

According to an article that appeared in the Kansas City Times on September 24th, there's a certain Dutch engineer in this country that's out to revolutionize that now standard way of writing piano music.

The name that has been tagged to this new thing is "Klavarskribo." According to the dutchman, Cornelius Pot, his new method of writing is "more logical to read." An excerpt from the article reads as follows:

"There are no sharps or flats, simply black notes and white notes, black notes for black keys and white notes for white keys. All the notes have tails, too, with tails for the treble sticking right and tails for the bass sticking left, the whole business coming down 'logically' like a waterfall or a player-piano roll with (we assume) the proper note dropping logically on the proper finger."

Mr. Pot hasn't stopped here. Oh, no, he's even whipped up an instrument to record the notes as the pianist plays them. Probably this wouldn't be of too much value for the beginner but for the more accomplished pianist who sits down to the 88 and pulls from the keys intoxicating improvised music it would be fine.

The last of the article goes: "Perhaps (the thought just occurred to us) the difficulty of piano playing has been this horizontal approach to it. Maybe its inner secret, like that of the fountains, elevators, Chinese writing and human beings themselves, is vertical."

Many Men Are 'Marriage Shy' Because of Women's Careers

A bachelor writes me complaining that no woman in his community has ever singled him out for any attention, and sent me to thinking.

Maybe a lot of men who are slow about getting married are just sitting around for an up-and-coming woman to set her cap for them,

Single women are pretty independent these days. With their good jobs, their freedom and their evident self-sufficiency a shy, retiring man might find them unapproachable.

Without a pretty good opinion of himself a bachelor might figure that a woman, who possibly has as good a job as he does, might not be interested in swapping it and her independence to become his wife.

Women are quick to assume that the man who isn't married is living without a wife by choice. They figure that since it's a man's place to do the pursuing, he'll get out and find a wife if he wants one.

But I'm convinced a lot of men today aren't as aggressive as women assume they are. I've had too many letters from men who say they would like to get married, but don't know how to go about meeting girls.

So maybe career women who want to get married ought not to be too modest and retiring when they meet an unattached man.

He May Need Encouraging

He may be unmarried because he is waiting for a woman to single him out, and let him know he has a chance with her.

A little friendliness on the woman's part might give him the encouragement he's been waiting for.

Anyhow, it ought to be worth a few tries. It's a cinch no bachelor is going to find it unpleasant to have a woman single him out for a little friendly attention.

The Doctor Says

Written for NEA Service

During recent years, doctors have come to recognize a peculiar disease of the lungs which is called virus pneumonia or atypical pneumonia. It is generally believed that one or more viruses are responsible.

The disease usually starts much like typical influenza with cough and running eyes and nose. Later the lungs become affected in a patchy sort of way. This is quite different from the usual type of pneumonia caused by a well-known germ called the pneumococcus, often called lobar pneumonia.

Virus pneumonia apparently takes about two or three weeks to develop after exposure. It begins rather gradually, usually without the typical chilly feeling of other kinds of pneumonia. The temperature rises more or less slowly and the cough becomes more and more annoying. Unlike lobar pneumonia, the cough generally does not raise much mucus.

Effects May Last

The disease often lasts from one to two weeks, but the changes in the lungs as shown by X-ray pictures may stay for 1 or 11 weeks. At present most patients with this peculiar disease eventually recover completely. The weakening effects and perhaps some cough may hang on for weeks or even months. People who have had virus pneumonia often complain that they do not feel normal for four or five months.

Until recently most treatments tried have not been particularly effective. Now, however, a relative of penicillin called aureomycin has been favorably reported on. It is hard to be sure about this treatment because virus pneumonia patients often get well promptly without any treatment at all. Nevertheless, this is certainly the most promising treatment so far proposed.

This afternoon's New York Philharmonic Symphony broadcast will be heard at 2:00 p.m. over KMBC, with Leopold Stokowsky conducting. Intermission "Green Room" guest of James Fassett will be Brig. Gen. Carlos P. Romulo, of the Philippines, and current president of the United Nations General Assembly.

Caroline Ellis, who is heard on the Happy Home program each morning at 9:30 Monday through Friday, is one of our favorites, as you may have gathered from reading this column. Caroline is now back on the "School house" series, too, and can be heard in "Magic Book" each Wednesday at 1:30 p.m. Caroline writes and narrates these dramatic presentations, and although they are particularly for the children, we have found that people of all ages enjoy hearing these dramatic presentations.

The history re-enactment feature "You Are There" resumes its fall series this afternoon at 4:00 o'clock over KMBC. Subject of today's program will be the "Trial of Aaron Burr." Special "on-the-scene" reporting will be handled by John Daly, Quincy Howe, Don Hollenbeck, Ned Calmer and Ken Roberts. Radio dramatist Michael Sklar recreated the trial from authentic source material, and we hope you'll tune in for this fall's premiere performance.

Sports director Sam Molen journeys to Lincoln this next Saturday afternoon to bring you a play-by-play account of the traditional Kansas-Nebraska football game. Tune in at 1:45 for Sam's account of one of the oldest rivalries in the midwest.

Saturday night at 8:30 over KMBC, you'll hear the first program in the new "Lum 'N Abner" series. Originally set to begin two weeks ago, the program has delayed its fall premiere until November 5. Hope you'll tune in for the adventure of the Pine Ridge store proprietors.

Once again Phil Evans, Bob Riley and Ken Parsons had a busy week at the American Royal. They had a busy time visiting with old and new friends from the Kansas City area. The KMBC-KFRM booth and Chatauqua Hall, scene of daily broadcasts during the Royal was a popular place, with large crowds each day. All of us were glad to see so many of our old friends. And, by the way, KMBC's farm reports and market broadcasts, handled by Evans, Riley and Parsons are the most popular in mid-America. We hope you folks will continue to listen to these morning programs that are up-to-the-minute on all of the latest markets and farming information.

Czech Birth Rate Up

PRAGUE — (AP) — The newspaper "Svobodne Slovo (Free Word)" reports that the Czechoslovak birth rate is increasing steadily since the war and straining school facilities.

It reports that Prague's total of children of school age has increased to 50,000, requiring double shifts in numerous elementary school.
